Gemini 11 Sets Speed, Altitude Marks

'Held Gun At My Head, Beat Me'

First U.S. Pilot To Escape North Viet Relates Ordeal

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — It was like this for the first American pilot to escape from North Vietnamese and Pathet Lao captors:

"They held a gun at my head and went 'click-click — ha, ha, Americani.' They beat me and hanged me upside down, putting ants on my face," said Lt. j.g. Dieter Dengler.

"We ate things that crawled through our hut. Once we caught a snake that had eaten two rats. We cut it open and ate the rats, too."

Dengler, a slender, handsome 28-year-old from Pacifica, Calif., spoke with a trace of an accent at a news conference. He was born in Germany and came to the United States in 1957.

Tanned, smiling and weighing 143 pounds, 45 more than when a helicopter snatched him from the jungle after five months in a Laotian prison camp run by North Vietnamese, he described his ordeal.

"In one village I was tied to a tree and used for target practice — the guards tried to see how close they could come to shooting me. Another time, one pulled a trigger with the rifle next to my left ear. It caused a deafness that lasted for several months.

"But the worst torture was being dragged by a water buffalo. My hands were tied so tightly the nerves were cut off."

Dengler said he told his captors nothing except his name, rank and serial number, as

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) —Shouting "We're on top of the world," the Gemini 11 astronauts today soared higher and faster than man has ever flown and Richard F. Gordon Jr. later poked the upper half of his body into space to photograph the stars.

"I tell you, you can't believe it!" command pilot Charles Conrad Jr. exclaimed as Gemini 11 rode the power of an Agena rocket 850 miles above the earth over eastern Australia. "Utterly fantastic . . . the world is round."

After reaching the high outpost twice, the astronauts returned to their original path, which ranged from 180 to 190 miles high.

At 8:49 a.m. (EST) Gordon opened his hatch and stood in his seat as Gemini 11 passed high over the Indian Ocean.

For 2 hours, 20 minutes he was to snap scientific pictures of relatively young stars.

Fantastic, Astronauts Say

Because he only had to stand there, the workload was much less than that which overtaxed Gordon during his space walk Tuesday. Within minutes Tuesday he was breathing and perspiring heavily. His right eye became blinded with sweat and he had to scurry back to the safety of the cabin.

During the stand-up exercise, Gordon was tethered to the inside of the cabin by four lines—three of them for oxygen, communications and biomedical inmentation. The fourth was a restraint tether, shorter than the others to prevent the three key lines from breaking.

Gordon aimed an ultraviolet camera, mounted on the side of the craft, at selected stars.

"We're on top of the world," Conrad reported as they reached the peak of the roller-coaster orbital path.

"Just out of my left window, I can see all the way around to the very end, with the horizon all around," he said.

The record-breaking journey started with a massive jolt of power from the Agena at 3:12 a.m. EDT.

"It's going," Conrad said. "It's really going!"

"Have a good ride," the ground controller told him.

After the first kick of speed the Agena gave Gemini 11 a record as the slowest-orbiting spacecraft. It fell from the usual 17,500 miles an hour to 15,402 before reaching the peak of its outward trip.

Then Gemini started downhill. It raced faster and faster until it was going at 17,884 miles an hour, faster than man has ever gone before.

The ground controller, asking for instrument readings on radiation as the crew zipped through a fringe of the Van Allen belt, said:

"Sounds like it's safer up there than a chest X-ray."

"Affirmative," answered Conrad.

—A 140-minute space stand by Gordon in which he is to poke the upper part of his body through an open hatch to take scientific photographs of the stars. It was to start at 8:37 a.m.

—A unique formation-flying experiment, slated to begin at 12:32 p.m., in which they'll swing through space with their craft tied to the Agena by a 100-foot cord.

Experts continued to assess the overwork problem that forced Gordon to terminate his space walk Tuesday after 44 minutes, far short of an intended 115-minute excursion.

Gordon tired quickly, sweated profusely, breathed heavily and reported he was "pooped." Some of the perspiration spilled into his right eye, partially blinding him, and command pilot Conrad ordered him back to the safety of the cabin.

The general feeling of experts is that working outside an orbiting ship is harder than anyone anticipated and that the Gemini equipment is not adequate to handle the heat and moisture generated by a laboring astronaut.

Governor Wins Nod In Minnesota

Kennedy Foe Gains Massachusetts Bid; 11 Primaries Held

Minnesota Gov. Karl F. Rolvaag, rejected for renomination by his own Democratic-Farmer-Labor party, won the chance on his own Tuesday to seek a second term in the Nov. 8 general election.

In another of Tuesday's 11 primary elections, Edward J. McCormack, a long-time challenger to the Kennedy clan, captured the Democratic nomination for governor of Massachusetts. He defeated Kenneth P. O'Donnell, a top aide to President John F. Kennedy.

Former House Speaker Joseph W. Martin, 81, was upset by a 35-year-old housewife and lawyer, Margaret M. Heckler, in his bid for Republican nomination to a 22nd term in another Massachusetts race. Martin was speaker during the 80th and 83rd Congresses and was Republican leader for 16 years before being toppled by Rep. Charles A. Halleck, R-Ind.

Some other races indicated popular support of President Johnson's Viet Nam policies and an apparent white backlash to open housing, the most controversial section in the administration's civil rights bill. But national issues generally were scarce in the campaigns.

Besides Minnesota and Massachusetts, other primaries were held in Arizona, Colorado, Maryland, New Hampshire, New Jersey, Rhode Island, Utah, Vermont and Wisconsin. Voters chose nominees for six governorships, nine Senate seats and 74 House seats.

Rolvaag, 53, stormed past his handpicked lieutenant governor, A. M. (Sandy) Keith, 37, who bucked Rolvaag in June to win the party's convention endorsement. The governor also seemed to be carrying his slate in three key races against Keith supporters.

Rolvaag will face Republican Harold LeVander, 55, a South St. Paul lawyer, who swept past nominal opposition in the GOP primary.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, a former Minnesota senator, took no active part in the primary campaign, although he backed Keith after the party nominated the lieutenant governor on the 20th ballot. He called early today for party unity in support of Rolvaag and predicted his re-election.

Spacewalk Problems

Project Officials Baffled By Gordon's Experience

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Baffled by astronaut Richard F. Gordon's Jr.'s tiring spacewalk experience, project officials today continued to search for ways to overcome man's seeming inability to work in the weightless ocean of space for long periods.

If they cannot, it might reduce the number of tasks astronauts can perform while on the moon. Astronauts also would need to work outside their spaceship to perform a space rescue, erect space stations or repair a broken satellite.

"We've got to have some more experience," said Dr. Charles Berry, chief astronaut physician, "and really get the details of each of these experiences and try and put them all together in some coherent story.

"I can say very honestly that there are some things here that we continue to not understand."

"The basic problem appears to be that it is very, very hard work," agreed mission director William C. Schneider. "And, regardless of the suit, it is going to remain hard work."

Man has no basic stability in space, if he doesn't have something to latch on to. It's like lifting weights while treading water.

Using tethers to tie a working astronaut down "is absolutely necessary to cut this workload," Berry said.

Astronaut Edward H. White II, America's first space walker, said he was hampered by the stiff, 21-layer space suit.

"You're working against a pressurized bag, and you have to move the bag around when you make motions," the astronaut said. "It takes slow deliberate patience about what you are doing."

As the result of troubles encountered by White on Gemini 4 and other spacewalking astronauts on later flights, devices were installed on Gemini 11 to give Gordon better leverage — hand holds and overshoe-like footholds.

The astronaut never got to use them, however. They were located at the rear of Gemini 11 and the early part of his space walk kept him in the front, around the locked-on Agena target satellite.

"Quite obviously, we underestimated the amount of work," project planners conceded.

The chief physician also noted that the fact that Gordon perspires very freely may have been a factor. Sweat poured into his right eye as he labored outside Gemini 11, hampering his vision.

A similar problem cut short the space walk by Gemini 9 astronaut Eugene A. Cernan in June, when his faceplate fogged from his heavy breathing. Evaporating equipment was unable to keep up with the moisture created.

Senate Vote On 'Rights' Debate Set

Dirksen Stands In Way To Bring Up Controversial Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate votes today on a motion to shut off debate and bring up a controversial civil rights bill. Without the support of Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen there appeared virtually no chance the administration could muster the necessary two-thirds vote.

Dirksen made it plain he wasn't dropping his opposition to the measure: "I know of nobody under the canopy of bright blue sky who could say anything to me that would make me change my mind."

Dirksen said he plans to give the chief address against the measure in advance of the late afternoon vote.

On the speech, Dirksen said, "My attacks are polite. They are devastating but polite. I kill you but you don't feel it."

Today's vote is on a cloture petition filed by Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield to end a shadow filibuster which began when sponsors presented a motion to take up the bill a week ago.

The filibuster never developed fully because absenteeism forced the Senate to adjourn several times when leaders could not muster a quorum.

Most controversial portion of the House-passed bill would forbid discrimination in the sale or rental of about 40 per cent of the nation's housing. Single-family dwellings would not be included.

Provisions aimed at preventing discrimination in selection of juries also have been under some fire.

Dirksen's mood was such on the eve of the key vote that he even brok into a few bass notes of song as he sat on a table in the Senate press gallery, sipping coffee and giving a virtuoso performance of a patented Dirksen news conference.

Dirksen said he hasn't discussed the bill with the President.

Blow Up 52 Trucks In Daring Raid

Cong Storm Motor Pool, Nab GI, Kill 4 Vietnamese

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — In a daring pre-dawn raid, a Viet Cong demolition squad stormed into a military motor pool near Saigon today, captured an American soldier, killed four Vietnamese militiamen and blew up 52 trucks.

U.S. officials estimated damage at $1 million. They said the Communist guerrillas escaped without losing a man.

On the ground, allied forces launched their biggest helicopter assault of the war in a new offensive in the coastal valleys of central Viet Nam.

One of their first catches was a 13-member Communist entertainment troupe from Hanoi. They also captured three nurses [illegible] Viet Cong hospital.

In another early action, the cavalrymen killed 15 enemy and captured 16 more while sustaining light casualties.

U.S. Army officers said the Viet Cong blasted a huge hole in the barbed-wire fence surrounding the motor pool on the outskirts of Saigon and charged through with guns blazing. A platoon of Vietnamese militiamen on guard pulled out during the initial onslaught. Several militiamen were wounded.

The captured U.S. serviceman was not identified.

Officers said the installation's administrative building was destroyed.

The U.S. command also reported that American bombers destroyed one missile when they hit a North Vietnamese missile complex 30 miles northeast of Dong Hoi for the seventh time. That brought to five the number of Soviet-made missiles blown up since Saturday. The site had been a threat to American bombing missions over North Viet Nam.

American planes flew 150 missions over the North Tuesday. Two American planes went down, raising the number of planes lost over the north to 368.

One plane, an F105 Thunderchief, was downed south of Vinh and the pilot was rescued. The other downed craft was a Navy Skyhawk and its pilot is listed as missing.

One hundred twenty transport helicopters were used to airlift U.S. 1st Cavalry Airmobile Division troops into the coastal valleys near An Khe where U.S. officers said two North Vietnamese regiments were believed to be operating.

The air cavalrymen flushed Viet Cong troops from holes and tunnels but so far had not engaged the main Communist force.

Communist ground fire destroyed one helicopter and damaged five others. Communist gunners also brought down a U.S. Air Force F100 Supersabre jet. The pilot went down with his plane.

In other developments:

— A terrorist lobbed a grenade into an American military vehicle in Gia Dinh City adjacent to Saigon, injuring three U.S. servicemen. The terrorist escaped.

— About 100 rounds of enemy mortar fire hit the command post of the 1st Battalion, 1st Marines, 12 miles southeast of Da Nang. A spokesman said most of the shells landed in the artillery and amphibious tractor areas and casualties were light.

— In the same area a combined patrol of U.S. Marines and Vietnamese popular forces engaged a Viet Cong platoon of about 30 men. Five Viet Cong were killed, the patrol said, but the patrol also suffered heavy casualties.

Air strikes against targets in North Viet Nam continued at a steady pace Tuesday. Pilots who struck the Dong Hoi missile site said a storage building and oil supplies also were hit, causing a large secondary fire.

Against 14 Defendants

17 Indictments Returned By Hancock Grand Jury

Seventeen indictments were returned against 14 defendants by the Hancock County Grand Jury Tuesday afternoon at New Cumberland.

The charges included 16 felonies and one misdemeanor. Arraignments were set for Monday.

The misdemeanor was against Dewayne B. Staley of Newell, an employe of the Newell American Legion, who is charged with exhibiting gaming devices April 19. Staley was not present and Judge Ralph Pryor issued a capias warrant for his arrest.

Others indicted follow:

Robert Ball, 19, of Weirton, theft of diamond rings valued at $500 and $20 in cash from the home of Calvin Beck of Columbus Way, Weirton. Ball allegedly committed the thefts while free on $1,000 bond as the result of having been bound to the October term of the Brooke County Grand Jury on a series of similar offenses.

Craig A. Thomas, 16, of Chester, Roger R. Cunningham, 16, of Shepherd Valley and Ernest Shrader, no address, breaking and entering of French's Pancake House on Route 30 Aug. 11. They were not present and capias warrants were issued against all three.

Benjamin Davis, 18, and Thomas A. Baliko, 17, both of Cleveland and Donald Pond, 24, of Science Hill, Ky., theft of a car owned by Gerald Miller of Midway, Pa., May 21. The three were apprehended in Sistersville, W. Va., and returned to Hancock County.

Larry Osbourne, 22, of New Cumberland, forgery of a $30 check July 18 and obtaining property under false pretences April 11.

James A. Spencer, no address, two counts of forgery. He allegedly forged a $75 check March 12 and a $150 check on March 12. Carol A. Swavely of Alexan-

U.S. Judge Orders Guard For Negroes In Grenada

GRENADA, Miss. (AP) — Negro pupils return for their third day of classes at newly desegregated Grenada schools today with officials under orders from a federal judge to protect them against the violence of segregationist whites.

U.S. Dist. Judge Claude F. Clayton, a former Army general, issued the order Tuesday night at Oxford.

Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach had requested it to provide protection for the children. The Justice Department also asked for the order to provide for the arrest and prosecution of those who assault the Negro children.

Without the order, the department said, Grenada officials would continue "in their willful failure and refusal" to protect the Negro children and their parents.

Even as Judge Clayton held a hearing on the request for a temporary restraining order, Negroes were marching through Grenada streets Tuesday night. At the courthouse square they were peppered with rocks and bottles hurled by whites, who also used slingshots to propel lead fishing sinkers at the marchers.

Heavily armed state highway patrolmen, bolstered by a force of state game wardens, moved in and dispersed the whites. The state officers escorted the Negroes back to their starting point — a church seven blocks from the square.

The Justice Department told Judge Clayton that Grenada Police Chief Pat Ray and Sheriff Suggs Ingram, together with their officers, were in the vicinity of the Grenada school complex Monday when a crowd of whites armed with ax handles, chains, sticks and other weapons, "gathered to threaten, intimidate, assault and beat Negro children and their parents."

Before Judge Clayton acted, Gov. Paul B. Johnson insisted at Jackson that Mississippi authorities had the situation under control.

Johnson, who dispatched Herman Glazier, his executive assistant, to Grenada, said the highway patrol would use what-

Soviet Holds Member Of Peace Corps

MOSCOW (AP) — The Foreign Ministry announced today that Thomas R. Dawson, an American Peace Corps member stationed in Iran, had been detained for violating the Soviet border. It added that an investigation is under way.

The announcement confirmed that Dawson was arrested along the Soviet-Iranian border, but gave no other information. Nor did the ministry take note of a U.S. Embassy request Tuesday for the release of Dawson, 24, of Annapolis, Md.

A spokesman for the U.S. Embassy said Dawson was picked up by Soviet border guards Sunday while walking near Astara on the Caspian Sea.

"Dawson was headed toward the border in all innocence," an embassy spokesman said. "We are undertaking appropriate measures to seek his release."

The Foreign Ministry ordered the expulsion of Donald R. Lesh, second secretary of the U.S. Embassy, "for activities incompatible with his diplomatic status." It did not elaborate.

The action was obviously retaliation for the U.S. expulsion Sept. 7 of Valentin A. Revin, third secretary of the Soviet Embassy in Washington. Revin was accused of trying to obtain classified information.

In another Moscow development, Harold M. Koch, a former Roman Catholic priest from Chicago who defected to the Soviet Union, has refused to speak to anyone from the U.S. Embassy, an embassy spokesman reported.

The embassy wanted to learn if his defection was voluntary. In a television interview Tuesday, Koch said he had decided to seek asylum in the Soviet Union because here he would be free to speak out in protest to U.S. involvement in the war in Viet Nam.

A U.S. embassy spokesman said he could not comment what steps will be taken by the embassy next to obtain the release of Dawson.

Grand Jury's Report Seen This Afternoon

LISBON — The Columbiana County Grand Jury neared the end of duty this morning with an inspection trip to the County Jail.

After a tour conducted by Sheriff Russell J. Van Fossan, the 10 women and five men returned to the jury room at the Courthouse for a final investigation.

Prosecuting Atty. J. Warren Bettis said the panel would report this afternoon to Judge Raymond S. Buzzard in Common Pleas Court. He will preside for criminal trials this term of court, which lasts through December.

Sworn in last Wednesday, the Grand Jury investigated between 30 and 40 cases. The Grand Jury is subject to recall anytime during the current term..

County OK'd For Federal Food Stamps

Columbiana County is one of 24 which received approval today for participation in the federal food stamp program.

The announcement was made at Columbus by State Welfare Director Denver L. White.

The action brings to 34 the number of Ohio counties taking part in the program, White said.

In addition to Columbiana, the new counties in which the program will start as soon as details are completed are Lorain, Lawrence, Trumbull, Clark, Jefferson, Muskingum, Washington, Monroe, Knox, Coshocton, Wayne, Morgan, Holmes, Ashland, Harrison, Carroll, Allen, Athens, Richland, Lake, Belmont, Tuscarawas and Guernsey.

The program makes recipients of public assistance and low-income families eligible to buy stamps for use to purchase food products.

Patrol Seeks Area Recruits

LISBON — An intensified program to recruit candidates for the Ohio State Highway Patrol will be conducted Thursday in the East Liverpool - Chester area.

Sgt. R. J. Rizzo of Lisbon Post 15 said officers will be at the Chester Police Department from 7 to 9 p.m. Thurday to interview applicants.

He said there are immediate vacancies to be filled and urged young men "to explore the opportunities and benefits provided by the patrol."

The starting salary is $460 per month, with annual raises to a maximum of $550 per month in four years. Patrolmen work a 40-hour week.

A patrol school candidate must be in the 21-to-30 age bracket, stand at least 5 feet, 9 inches, weigh at least 160 pounds, be a high school graduate and be of good moral character.

Out-of-state residents are acceptable under a new law permitting waiver of the residence requirement.

Men who appy during the stepped-up recruitment drive can expect prompt processing of applications, Rizzo said. He reminded the men selected will train at Columbus in the patrol's new $1.5-million academy.

Anyone unable to report to the Chester police station Thursday may obtain an application by contacting Post 15 on Route 30, one mile southeast of Lisbon. The telephone is Lisbon 424-7767, area code 216.

Bloodmobile Gets 124 More Pints

LISBON — Area residents donated 124 pints of blood to the Red Cross Bloodmobile Tuesday at the First Methodist Church.

The total is one pint short of the bloodmobile's trip quota and compares with 126 pints donated here in March.

The unit visits Lisbon twice a year. Blood given here is credited to the blood banks at Salem City Hospital and Salem Central Clinic and is available to area patients at no charge except costs of administration.

Recruiting was handled by the American Legion Auxiliary, with Mrs. Vance Brinker scheduling chairman. She said 111 prospective donors signed, but only 82 reported. Several of these were rejected, with "walk-ins" making up the difference.

The troopers, armed with shotguns and carrying gas masks, turned back a group of 150 Negroes — lead by the Rev. Andrew Young of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.'s Southern Christian Leadership Conference — outside the school Tuesday afternoon.

Young led the group to the complex where the elementary and high school are located to escort the Negro pupils home. A highway patrol officer told the Negroes protection would be given the children if the adults would go back to their homes. They did.

Meanwhile, 14 congressmen called on Katzenbach to send federal marshals to Grenada to protect the Negro pupils.

prescribed by the Geneva convention on prisoners of war.

"Those people don't even know what the Geneva convention is," he said. "They don't even know we exist. All they know is Laos, Cambodia and North Viet Nam."

He saw no prisoners sign proffered statements denouncing the United States, he said, though all were harassed.

Dengler hesitatingly told how he escaped with Air Force Lt. Duane Martin of Denver, Colo., then watched a villager hack Martin to death.

Dengler was flying a reconnaissance plane over North Viet Nam last Feb. 1 when ground fire brought it down. He landed across the border in Laos where he was captured a day later. He escaped once, for six days, then for good on June 29.

Dengler said he and six other Americans confined in a thatched- roof hut decided to try to escape when they overheard guards planning to kill them.

"Lt. Martin and I decided it was better to die in the bush — as free men — rather than in the hands of Communists," he said.

Dengler said he had stolen four guns from the guards' hut. These, and some food, were divided among the group. They killed six guards in the escape. The Navy doesn't know what happened to the other Americans.

"We had no compass and didn't really know our position so we decided to find a river and follow it. We were weak and had to learn to walk again.

"The nights were the worst. Martin and I would lie together face to face to keep warm. We prayed together and we cried together. There was somebody hunting us all the time."

On the 19th day after the escape "we were crawling along a jungle path when this villager jumped out 20 feet in front of us. He yelled 'Americani, Americani' and started hacking Martin with his machete." Dengler said he escaped into a gully.

"I must have blacked out 20 or 30 times. The last four days were the worst after I lost my friend. But I was angry. I wanted to come home. I wanted to fly again."

Suffering from jaundice, his feet swollen from cuts, he found a parachute and cut an SOS message out of it. On the 23rd day after his escape a rescue helicopter lifted him out.

It was Dengler's second long walk to freedom. As a 7-year-old in Germany he hiked for 68 days through the Black Forest to escape Nazis, who had killed his father.

Gemini

their final full day in space with a bang, sending a signal to fire up the engine of the big Agena, to which they have been docked since a record first-orbit rendezvous Monday.

The 16,000-pound-thrust powerplant responded with a 25-second rush of flame that increased Gemini 11's 17,503-mile-per hour speed by 626 miles and sent it whipping into a great yo-yo orbit.

As the space ship darted upwards it surpassed Gemini 10's altitude mark of 476 miles, reaching its own high point for the first time at 4:04 a.m. The tiny craft then started the down slope of its roller-coaster trip toward the 180-mile low point.

Gemini 11 was to continue in this path during two orbits, about 3½ hours, before the astronauts again ignited the Agena to return to the original almost-circular orbit of 180 to 191 miles.

The ascent to the record altitude occurred on a path generally running from the Canary Islands in the eastern Atlantic to Australia.

On this course, Gemini 11 barely brushed the lower edge of the Van Allen belt of radiation that circles the globe. The Van Allen band in most areas of the world dips down to as close as 400 miles, and in a few areas it comes as near as 100 miles.

Conrad radioed instrument readings of radiation to the ground, however, and mission control said it was "precisely as predicted." The space agency said before the flight that there would be no radiation danger to the pilots.

The pictures that the shutterbug astronauts took as they rose to their record height were important in two respects.

Many U.S. Tiros and Nimbus weather satellites are orbiting at around the 800-mile altitude and meteorologists want to compare their black and white pictures with the high-resolution color photos obtained by Conrad and Gordon.

Weather experts feel color pictures would be superior for forecasting, but don't want to invest in an expensive satellite system until they know for certain.

Plenty of clouds came within range of the Gemini 11 cameramen.

Geologists hope the Gemini 11 photos will give them a better idea of the extent of large faults in the earth's surface. Airplanes and lower-flying Gemini and Mercury space ships have shown parts of these faults — breaks in the rock strata. But many are hundreds of miles in length, and hopefully can be captured in full on Gemini 11's film.

Space agency officials continued to puzzle over the workload that brought the sudden end to Gordon's space walk.

"I have no explanation for the quick exhaustion," said Dr. Charles A. Berry, Gemini flight surgeon. "He said he was pooped at a very early stage. We didn't think he would become fatigued that early in the game. The only way we'll find out is to talk to him and learn just how much work he was doing for each task."

Berry and Gemini mission director William Schneider agreed that equipment to cool and remove moisture from a space-walker's suit was inadequate.

On Gemini 9, astronaut Eugene A. Cernan also had to cut his record two-hour, 10-minute space walk short when moisture fogged the visor of his space suit.

Berry said that, except for brief 30-second periods in a looping airplane, there is no way of simulating work in weightless space on the ground.

Berry noted that Edward H. White II and Michael Collins had no overwork problems on their relatively short space walks, adding that the trouble might be traced to an individual.

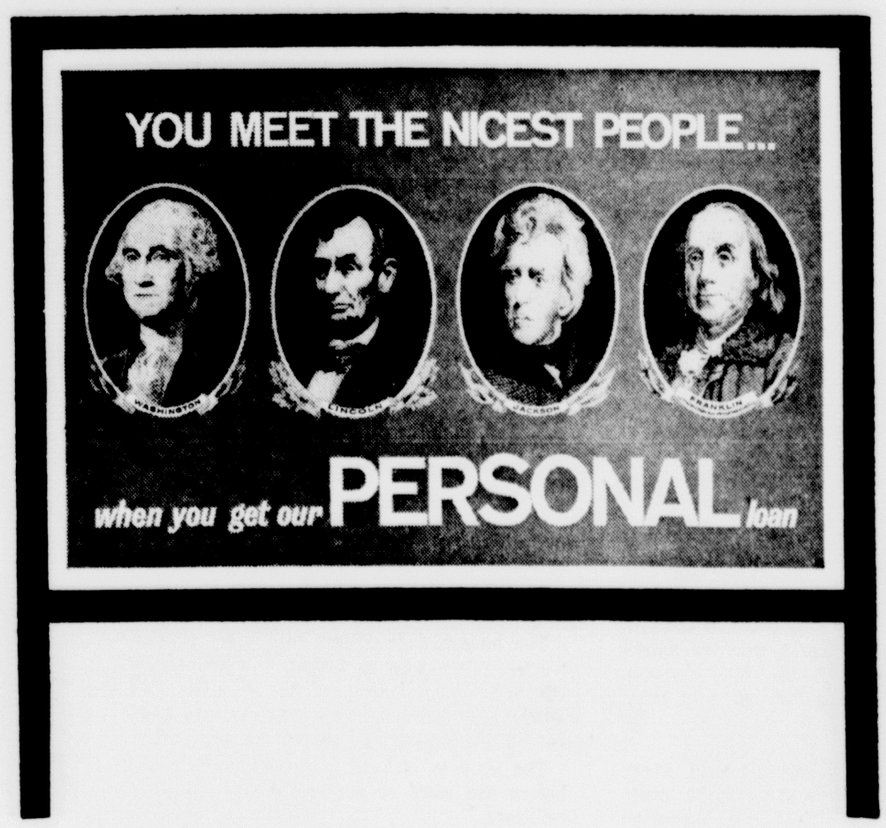

He disclosed that Gordon, in preflight practice, was prone to perspire and to have an elevated heart rate — it jumped 110 points to 180 at one point in the walk.

But, with proper equipment, Berry said, this should be no problem.

Someone Pays The Freight

Comparative costs of tuition in private colleges and tax-supported colleges again are raising a question of survival.

Can private schools continue to attract students in competition with ever-expanding tax-supported schools charging low tuition and tapping the public till for the rest?

No one knows how the idea was established that the public till could be tapped in this way. The original tax-supported schools were for the training of doctors and farmers. General education was left to private colleges, many of them church-oriented.

Gradually, tax-supported schools expanded. It was easy because their low tuition was attractive.

IT MADE NO difference whether the student was a millionaire's child, or a kid from the slum; the missing part of the tuition was taken from the public purse.

Tuition at some schools this year will be upward of $2,000. The going rate of expense for attending many private schools will be more than $3,000 for two semesters.

In public schools, with the state picking up part of the tab, students from families of a wide range of means will pay only half as much tuition. Can private schools survive against this kind of competition?

Fortunately, more than cost is involved in the answer.

Private schools charging tuition and being partly financed by income from endowments have something besides low costs to offer. They have a tradition as independent colleges.

They are not subject to politics and politicians.

They can enforce their own codes of conduct.

They can make free inquiry into the nature of things. They can stress individual education and ignore the handicaps that go with mass education.

THEY WOULD HAVE even less to worry about if one obvious correction were made in the admissions policy of tax-supported schools—the same means test applied to other applicants for public aid.

If they can afford to take care of themselves, they shouldn't lean on the public trough.

It makes no sense to be charging taxpayers for the higher education of students from families who otherwise could pay their own freight.

Taxpayers should not be expected to shell out for advanced education—not unless it becomes compulsory, like elementary education.

Dangerous Practice

Homeward bound East Liverpool students again have started the dangerous practice of hitch-hiking rides on three major streets—Lisbon St., St. Clair Ave. and E. 5th St.

The practice resulted in a series of rear-end auto collisions in the last school year. In some instances, auto passengers were injured, and property damage was extensive.

The dangers inherent in the practice were pointed out in the last school term, but no positive action was taken to correct it—either on the part of the school authorities or municipal officials.

The story behind each of the rear-end collisions was the same. A motorist spotted a student with upraised thumb and decided to stop and give him a lift. But the driver behind, not expecting a sudden stop, crashed into the halted auto.

If the students were not provided with transportation on regular bus runs, there might conceivably be an excuse for the wholesale soliciting of rides. But the bus transportation is available and they should use it — or walk.

The hitch-hiking centers at three primary points—at the foot of Lisbon St., just off W. 8th St.; at the bottom of the S. Clair Ave. grade, near the Horn Switch tracks, and along E. 5th St. in the vicinity of the post office.

The time to correct the condition is now—before the start of another dreary series of collisions.

Everything But The Truth

Everyone who read President Johnson's comments when he signed the Highway Safety Act and Traffic Safety Act must have felt encouraged. Things were on their way.

It was a stirring statement of intent to cut down loss of life on the nation's highways. It offered a bright promise of federal help to states to set up safety programs—the seemingly indispensable arrangement for all improvement in this era of abject dependence on remote authority.

And, of course, it projected a rosy future in which all autos would be constructed so safely that getting mashed up in one would be almost a privilege. Besides this, it set up a new federal agency, which will work with the auto industry on safety standards.

President Johnson sketched a glowing outline of a future in which all of us could venture forth on the nation's highways without our well-justified fear of being killed or maimed by a drunk whose license had been suspended, a psychopath with an accident record as long as his car's wheelbase, a chronic speeder, or a mentally tottery driver who could not pass an actual road test for operating a motor vehicle.

Until people like these—chronic offenders—are denied license tags for their autos, until drivers whose driver licenses have been suspended are forbidden to have auto license tags, the rest of us will hope for the best but fear the worst.

It is doubtful if President Johnson and that lawyer fellow who wrote the book on auto safety and parlayed it into a career have added a jot or tittle to public security against death or injury on the highway.

They are blaming everything but the truth—the fact that drivers, not autos, cause accidents.

Register Now

Forty Columbiana County men and women serving in the armed forces in many parts of the world have shown their awareness of the duties of citizenship by applying for absentee ballots for the Nov. 8 general election.

The County Election Board mailed the first installment of the ballots Tuesday, with many addressed to applicants in Viet Nam and other out-of-the-way places.

If a GI wading through rice paddies, dodging sniper bullets and eating cold chow out of a tin can take time off to play his full role as a citizen, certainly the folks back home can bestir themselves.

But many East Liverpool residents will be unable to vote Nov. 8 unless they take a few minutes to register at the County Election Board's office.

The time to register is now. The deadline falls on Sept. 28.

Chinese Immaturity

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

It is a commonplace now that the Red Chinese are dangerously unpredictable. Among the reasons for it, and one of the best symbols of it, are the Red Guard youth brigades created by the Red leadership.

These brigades have been turned loose by Mao Tze-tung and those close to him to frighten and club the Chinese people into a vast conformity: unquestioning acceptance of the leadership and edicts of Mao and his clique.

There's one thing wrong with the idea.

It is axiomatic that power is only a temporary possession. Dissent can be hushed but not crushed, even though it lies dormant for a generation. Unless the reasons for the dissent are altered, the dissent remains.

It may be silenced through force for the lifetime of the aging Mao. He will retain the power to hush it so long as he remains No. 1 man with the support of those who share his views or who figure they can benefit by his favors.

Perhaps the irritations and disagreements causing the dissent will become too intense to wait until he dies to express themselves.

BUT ONCE HE is gone the dissatisfactions of the discontented — whether they are intellectuals, factory hands, farmers or shopkeepers—will assert themselves.

This is so obvious, the use of the Red Guards by the Mao leadership is an indisputable sign of its political, social and emotional immaturity. It is one of the factors which make the Red Chinese regime look frightening.

The immaturity has shown itself in various ways. For instance, the impulsive and disastrous "Great Leap Forward" of a few years ago, an experiment in stepped-up communism from which Red China has not yet recovered.

The immaturity has been displayed in its rugged and disastrous foreign policy which in the past couple of years has suffered one setback and humiliation after another around the world.

But the immaturity is coupled with stupidity, which makes it doubly painful. Red China, preaching world communism and proclaiming itself the leader of it, has revealed that its basic compulsion is the crudest nationalism.

Thus it has alienated itself from the rest of the Communist world with its vilification of the Soviet Union and its childish and primitive effor to claim a monopoly on Red Wisdom.

The Soviet Union has been around longer and, through time, power and other devices, has attached to itself the loyalty of other Red states. More than just Chinese hissing will be needed to shake them loose.

THIS IS NOT to suggest that the United States, the Soviet Union and the other big powers are not equally nationalistic in their basic motives, but they are a little more subtle about it, except perhaps for France, which is crude on that.

But if immaturity makes the Mao regime look emotionally unstable, so do its inferior feelings about its lack of industrial development (while shouting like a giant), other forms of progress, and the fact it is not yet a nuclear power, while the Soviet Union and the United States are. No wonder those nations are its two main targets.

It could be assumed Red China would talk big and do little until it is a No. 1 world power for fear that war with the Soviet Union or this country would bring the ruin of such nuclear development as it has. This is strictly an assumption.

But any country resorting to the Red Guard tactics is erratic and unstable.

Understandably the Johnson administration is avoiding anything — like an invasion of North Viet Nam — which might make the Red Chinese feel compelled to go to war.

The best hope for a maturing and stable China seems to be in the obvious evolutionary process: eventual change in leadership and new conditions, internally and externally, for which the Mao maxims clearly hold no solutions.

Top Billing The World Over

Unions Run Own Businesses

By Victor Riesel

STOCKHOLM — Here you can't tell the bankers and the labor leaders apart — even after long conversations in their executive dining rooms over wine laden tables. They all look like they've just come out of the Pan American building Sky Club. You can't even tell them apart after a long look at the balance sheets of their organizations.

Victor Riesel

My new friend, Tore Browaldh, president of the Svenska Handelsbaken, Sweden's largest, laughed when I told him that my old friend Arne Geijer, president of the Swedish Trade Union Confederation (Landsorganisationen i Sverige) (LO) jestingly had told me that Swedish labor controls about as much industrial assets and corporations as the financial institution. Browaldh suggested that Geijer was not jesting.

Swedish labor — the LO — has a castle north of Paris; a glittering summer village on Italy's Mediterranean Riviera, colleges, schools, vast printing shops, large real estate holdings, art galleries for selling as well as looking, a profitable public relations firm and some of the choicest real estate in Stockholm.

THESE ARE JUST PART of the holdings. When I left Geijer's tower suite in a building designed to look like a castle with two round turreted structures at either end, Dr. Manfred Nilsson, an aide to the labor chief, strolled into the street with me.

'You're in what the people ironically call 'Red Square,'' said Nilsson, a doctor of philosophy. "It's really North Railway Square. But they kid us. Once the LO building there across the street was the apartment house of Stockholm's most fashionable people. The side street there, with those fine old buildings, housed the city's bankers, merchants and nobility. Now we trade unionists own them all. Some we use for offices, some for other purposes. Some we rent out. But they all are profitable."

He's right. The LO is not red. It is not pink. It is not even mauve. It has good healthy capitalist instincts. Its building and construction unions, for example, own 20 big construction companies. They are run for profit and, I'm told, put up 50 per cent of the structures in Sweden.

NOTE THIS. Through an LO subsidiary, and in partnership with other sections of the 'movement,'' it runs a travel agency called the Reso. It operates 16 modern hotels throughout Sweden. It owns a village of its own, Riva Del Sole, in Italy and now is building another, twice as big in another part of Italy, and still a third near the Cote D'Azur in Southern France.

These are and will be swinging summer spots —dancing, romance, swimming and doing whatever the aristocracy does in the sun.

To publicize these and other party and LO operations — including propaganda drives and election campaigns — Swedish labor has a real Madison Avenue public relations firm headquartered in Stockholm with branches in Germany and England.

When LO wants something printed it goes to its big printing corporation, which should not be confused with its publishing house. The printing company, Barnangen Co. (owned by the LO and the metal workers' union) does more than print and produce the movement's 24 union magazines and party political literature. In his pleasant, bantering manner, Arne Geijer said the company makes money from capitalists and Communists.

The Barnangen Printing Co. is Sweden's biggest producer of cards for IBM computers—"a very profitable business." It also has a famous foreign customer — the Soviet Union. Last year, the company printed six million Swedish-Russian dictionaries for the USSR grammar schools.

WHEN I ASKED Geijer to explain how his movement can go 21 years without a major strike and still convince its people of its militancy, he said simply — "we educate them." It's easy to see how.

In addition to two full time colleges and lesser schools, the LO owns the Tiden (Time) Publishing Co. It puts out good literature as well as volumes on social science and politics. It has the Folkrorelsernas Konstframjande — the Workers Association for Promoting Good Art.

Small wonder the labor movement here survives and prospers. It lives and lets live. It takes imagination. They sure have it.

Half-Measures

By David Lawrence

Inflation Curb Attempted

President Johnson has made a start toward restraining the artificial boom of the last three years and the growing inflation which has been threatening a business depression. His hesitancy may have been due to a fear that the cure might prove worse politically than the disease itself. Now he has found himself compelled by circumstances to recommend some restrictive measures even though a very important event —the congressional election— is less than two months away.

David Lawrence

Nobody can be sure that the palliatives suggested by the President will prove adequate or that, in the two years ahead, he will be able, by further experiments, to stabilize the whole situation sufficiently to win voter support for his own re-election.

Today candor requires the statement that the economic experts are far from unanimous in the belief that a depression will be prevented.

The reason is that tampering with the national economy — as a politically minded administration feels inclined to do from time to time—is risky. The mere suspension of a tax credit for plant improvement or even the creation of more funds for mortgage borrowers can hardly bring the necessary relief from the perils of inflation.

THE ADMINISTRATION is face to face with the cumulative impact of several years of government spending in excess of tax collections and a refusal to restrain a well-organized and all-powerful political minority which bludgeons the producers of goods and forces them to pay higher and higher wages. So there is only one answer — higher and higher prices. Concurrently, the cost of living has been rusing substantially.

Public confidence in the dollar, therefore, is sagging. Its purchasing power has been steadily going down. The rest of the world worries whether devaluation of the monetary unit here may be in prospect and this always brings grave problems, as happened in the 1930s.

President Johnson naturally is expected to act as the nation's leader. It's his duty to recommend and press for the kind of action that will achieve and maintain economic stability but he is afraid today of organized labor and tries indirect remedies, as, for instance, the suspension of a tax credit for certain corporate expenditures. He does so knowing full well that the number of jobs may be diminished somewhat by such a move and that modernization of plants to compete with foreign goods will be delayed.

Mr. Johnson argues that this is only temporary. Yet the net effect may be to increase unemployment while nothing whatever is done to curb the exercise of an arbitrary power which pushes upward wage rates by threatening work stoppages or actually calling costly strikes.

MEANWHILE, THE GOVERNMENT has been running in the red year after year, and the fallacy is, still espoused that deficit spending is healthy and stimulates business. It has, however, produced a dangerous inflation, and now the President is confronted with the problem of curtailing government spending without offending the groups that have been benefiting from government largess.

Temporarily Mr. Johnson has given the impression that he "is doing something about it all' but in the next two months no important change in the economic situation will be felt.

After the November election, the President will have to decide whether he will ask Congress for much more drastic measures — such as wage-and-price controls and a general tax increase — or whether he will gamble with the future. To do so means risking a break and a depression in the election year 1968.

The discontent which is sweeping the country today may be reflected in a reduced majority for the Democratic party in Congress.

SUCH A RESULT will be a warning to the President that he must take certain steps to overcome the effects of whatever economic changes start to appear after the November election — whether they be called the beginning of a depression, recession or readjustment. There is a basis for worry and caution and nobody performs a service by glossing over the main facts.

The country is hearing much about the increase in interest rates and the need to "ease" the money market. These are mere symptoms of the deeper weaknesses in a boom economy which has been adversely affected by unnecessary spending of government funds and an acquiescence in the misuse of the nollective-bargaining power in America.

It will take more courage than has been exhibited heretofore in political Washington to mitigate the consequences of these past mistakes.

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

With all due respect to the management of the Columbia Theater, I think that it is with poor taste and judgment of character with which they choose their films.

Such obsenity and lewdness truely attract business, but in the process they are lowering the moral character of the "Junior Citizens." As a public movie house, it is my opinion that they, the management choose films fit for public viewing, and not a slim choice few.

Firm's Head Says Not A Subsidy

Government Classifies AMC As Small Business

DETROIT (AP) — The president of American Motors Corp. says a governmental decision that his financially troubled firm is a small business "should open the doors to some new business."

But Roy Abernethy declared that the new classification of the nations's fourth-largest auto maker by the Small Business Administration "is not a subsidy."

"It is simply a chance to compete," he said.

The Small Business Administration announced in Washington Tuesday that it is redefining the concept of small business in three industries—passenger cars, truck and bus tires and auto and motorcycle tires—in an attempt to foster competition.

At least one other auto firm, Checker Motors of Kalamazoo, Mich., would fall under the administration's new definition, which classes a firm as a small business if it commands less than 5 per cent of the market in its particular field at the time of bidding on a government contract. Eight domestic tire manufacturers also probably would qualify as small businesses under the redefinition.

Exactly how big an opportunity the government would give AMC to grab a share of government contracts was not spelled out.

There was no announcement whether the administration would set aside a portion of auto contracts for small business. The government's buying agency, General Services Administration, is expected to purchase about 60,000 autos in 1967.

Until now, AMC, 63rd-biggest firm in the nation in terms of sales, has sold fewer than 800 or 900 cars a year to the government, Abernethy said.

If the firm takes advantage of its new classification to sell cars to the government, it will cut into a market controlled until now by the Big Three of the industry—General Motors Corp., Ford Motor Co., and Chrysler Corp.

AMC's last major contract with the government was finished a few years ago when production ended on the Mighty Mite, a small, rugged vehicle designed to be airlifted easily.

Officials of the Big Three automakers declined to comment on whether they thought the administration's decision showed favoritism toward one of their competitors.

The Big Three sell 97 per cent of the new cars made in the United States. American Motors commands less than 2 per cent of the market.

AMC for the last three quarters of its fiscal year has omitted payment of dividends to stockholders because of low earnings. On June 30, at the end of nine months of its fiscal year, AMC reported a $4.1-million loss on $707.1 million in sales.

Justifiable Homicide Ruled In Shooting

PITTSBURGH (AP) — An Allegheny County coroner's jury ruled justifiable homicide Tuesday in the Aug. 13 shooting of a man by a rookie patrolman.

Herman Carletti, 26, of Pittsburgh and another man allegedly were in the process of a hold up at the Cathedral Mansion Apartments in Pittsburgh's Oakland section when they were surprised by Phares Hutton Jr., 26, and another policeman. Carletti fled, police said.

Hutton said he chased Carletti and trapped him under a car. Carletti again attempted to flee, and Hutton said he shot him after he ignored a warning to halt.

Mayfield Board Picks School Superintendent

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Mayfield Board of Education Tuesday night appointed Joseph L. Baird as superintendent of schools in the 5,570-pupil district.

Baird, superintendent of Ashland, Ohio, schools since 1958, succeeds Harvey A. Scheetz, who retired three months ago. Baird's annual salary will be $18,500.

The hot cross bun dates back to ancient Greece. The Greeks and Romans marked this type of small, sweet cake with a cross (possibly in relation to the four quarters of the moon) and usually bought them at the doors of temples at public sacrifices. Cross bread was also eaten by the pagan Saxons in honor of their goddess of light. Mexicans and Peruvians had a similar custom, which eventually was adopted by the early Christian church.

Robert Parkins of the Fairview Grange and Melvin Hall of the Weirton Jefferson Grange were installed as worthy masters along with other officers during a joint installation Tuesday night in the Pughtown hall.

The ceremonies were conducted by Mrs. Eleanor Pyle of the Buffalo Grange, near Bethany, assisted by six members of her organization.

Mrs. Clark Field was pianist and Field soloist. They are members of the Buffalo Grange.

Ohio Bell, CWA Agree To Extend Current Contract

CLEVELAND (AP) — Ohio Bell Telephone Co. and the Communications Workers of America agreed today to extend their current labor contract on a day-to-day basis as negotiations continue on a new pact.

The contract was to have expired last midnight.

The agreement, subject to cancellation by either party on 244 hours notice, came in the early morning hours at a marathon bargaining session which extended past the time the 38-month-old contract was to run out.

Martin J. Hughes, Ohio director for the CWA, reported some progress but said no basic issues were resolved. He said no decision had been reached on whether the union would strike.

The CWA represents 17,000 Ohio Bell employes.

School And Mental Health Levies Win Endorsement

Levies that will appear on the Nov. 8 ballot to maintain salary standards for East Liverpool school teachers and expand the services of the County Mental Health Clinic received endorsement of the Board of Trustees of the Chamber of Commerce at a dinner meeting Tuesday night.

In giving its support to the new 3.5-mill school levy, the board acted at the recommendation of C. V. Hughes, chairman of its public education committee. The endorsement of the two-tenths mill levy to provide additional services at the mental health center in Lisbon was voted at the suggestion of Juvenile and Probate Judge Louis Tobin.

School Supt. Paul H. Blair told the board the proposed school levy would cost the average home owner four cents a day. He said the school system needs the additional funds to maintain its present staff.

JUDGE TOBIN, explaining the present countywide services of the mental health center, said the additional funds will allow an expansion in its operations. Blair also spoke in support of the mental health levy.

By the very nature of its work, the clinic cannot publicize individual cases, but "if the public realized how much good the clinic does in this area, the levy would be passed without question," he commented.

Alwyn C. Purinton Jr., president, presided at the meeting in the Travelers Hotel. It was the board's semi-annual meeting with chairmen of standing committees, to receive reports on recent activities and to look ahead to the new season. Twenty-one attended.

In other business, the board unanimously elected John Pinney of Chester, an executive of the Harker China Co., to fill the unexpired trustee's term of Stephen F. Eibling. Eibling, former commercial manager of the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. exchange here, resigned recently when he was transferred to Canton.

E. R. Chandler, executive manager, reported the Chamber's annual fall membership meeting has been set tentatively for early November. He also announced that the annual meeting of the Ohio Chamber will be held Nov. 22 at Columbus.

Reporting for the safety committee, Samuel W. Brown said it is preparing for the annual local observance of National Fire Prevention Week, beginning Oct. 9. The committee is arranging a meeting for area fire department representatives on Sept. 26 at the Ohio Valley Gas Co. building in Glenmoor to review plans for the program, he said.

The committee has discussed "dangerous" intersections at St. Clair and Lincoln Aves. and at Jefferson and W. 8th Sts. and plans to discuss them further with the city administration and Council, he said.

Chandler reported for Richard Emmerling, chairman of the business relations committee. He reported on a panel discussion on the free enterpirse system staged for high school seniors last term and said a similar program is contemplated for the 1966-67 term. He also said the committee is considering sponsoring a discussion course on "Freedom vs. Communism" if interest warrants.

DETAILS OF the spring clean-up drive were outlined by Arthur Doak in his report for the civic and community affairs committee. New trash receptacles were placed in the business area as part of the drive, he said.

Francis H. Lang, reporting for the highway committee, discussed progress in construction of the Ohio River-Lake Erie Highway between East Liverpool and Ashtabula. He said the State Highway Department expects to have awarded contracts for the final segments by fiscal 1969.

Two stretches now are under construction — the area segment between Route 170 and Route 267 and another stretch in Mahoning County — and right-of-way is being purchased for the next area segment, extending from Apples Corners to near West Point.

Reporting for the Community Improvement Corp. and the industrial development committee, George A. Shaw pointed out the CIC will observe its third anniversary at a dinner Oct. 10 at the Country Club. New officers and seven new trustees will be elected.

Shaw indicated he expects to present a full report on CIC activities and accomplishments at the October meeting. He revealed that the CIC has been working recently with another industrial prospect interested in locating in the area.

He said he could not divulge full information on the project at present, but added the interested company "looks like a real good possibility."

Dayton Allen reported for the East Liverpool Merchants Association. He cited the placement of the new trash cans in the business district. ELMA is preparing a fall promotion and also has started planning for its annual Christmas program, he said. He called the new Ceramic Annex parking lot an asset to the downtown area, but added more off-street parking areas still are needed.

In a report for the education committee, Hughes discussed the reception which it staged for new East Liverpool teachers Sept. 6 at Westgate School. He said the new instructors were "very appreciative" of the welcome to the community.

Charles Lang, representing the Junior Chamber of Commerce, discussed the organization's plans for the new year.

The board approved the annual financial statement, covering the period from July 1, 1965, to June 30, 1966, and also accepted the budget for 1966-67. The invocation was given by Francis Lang.

Rood, 63, of Zanesville, who pleaded guilty and was sentenced Tuesday for manslaughter in the fatal shooting of his brother Orville, 58. Stretch Of Freeway Over Half Complete Construction is 52 per cent completed on a third area segment of the Ohio River - Lake Erie Freeway, stretching nearly four miles from Substation to Apples Corners, according to Earl Nelson, head of the State Highway Department's Division 11 office in New Philadelphia.

Nelson issued the report as part of a general summary of the status of projects under way in the division at a total estimated cost of over $41 million.

He said work has been completed on a $47,803 project covering two-tenths of a mile on State Route 172 at Guilford Lake.

Bucs Down Astros, But Fail To Gain Ground On LA

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

It could be the World Series for the Los Angeles Dodgers and City Hall for Lou Johnson all over again this year.

The two seem to go together, and the Dodgers couldn't be more pleased.

They maintained their 1½-game lead in the torrid National League pennant race Tuesday night by crushing the New York Mets 8-3 behind Johnson's slugging.

The left fielder clouted two homers and drove in four runs, surpassing last year's marks that helped direct him to City Hall in Los Angeles where he received a special citation for his unexpected part in the Dodgers' successful fight for the pennant.

Johnson was called up to the Dodgers, his 18th team in professional baseball, in an emergency last season to fill the left field spot suddenly left vacant when Tommy Davis broke his right ankle May 1.

The Dodgers didn't really expect much from Johnson, but he did more than most of their hitters in driving them to the Series.

He batted only .259, but many of his hits were clutch hits and he drove in 58 runs and tied Jim Lefebvre for the team lead in homers with 12.

"If it hadn't been for the job Johnson did, we might not be here today," Sandy Koufax said after Los Angeles won the pennant.

But this year Johnson is doing even better. His performance against the Mets raised his average to .269 and vaulted him ahead of his 1965 slugging totals. He now has socked 13 homers and driven in 61 runs.

He is second in both departments only to Lefebvre, who has belted 23 homers and knocked in 72 runs.

Los Angeles' two competitors also won Tuesday night, Pittsburgh remaining 1½ games back by walloping Houston 9-3 and San Francisco staying 2½ out with a 7-2 triumph over Philadelphia. In other games, St. Louis edged Cincinnati 3-2 and Atlanta trounced Chicago 10-2.

Johnson's first homer, in the fourth inning, tied the Mets 2-2, and his second, a three-run blast, climaxed a five-run eruption in the fifth. Lefebvre's two-run single snapped the tie earlier in the inning. Claude Osteen, with relief help from Bob Miller, gained his 16th victory against 11 defeats.

The Pirates unloaded a 16-hit attack on Houston, with Willie Stargell driving in four runs with a sacrifice fly and his 30th homer. Gene Alley stroked four hits and Matty Alou three while Roberto Clemente drove in two runs with a single and a double.

San Francisco's Juan Marichal scattered seven hits for his 22nd victory against six defeats. Tito Fuentes lashed a key two-run double in the sixth inning, and Willie McCovey socked his 29th homer, a two-run shot, in the eighth.

Curt Flood's two-run, eighth-inning double boosted St. Louis past Cincinnati. The blow wiped out a 2-1 lead Cincinnati had taken on Deron Johnson's run-scoring double in the fourth and his homer in the seventh.

Hank Aaron drove in three runs with his 38th and 39th homers, leading an Atlanta attack against Chicago that also included homers by Rico Carty and Felipe Alou.

Seattle's Angels Win PCL Crown

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — The Seattle Angels had a little something extra to go with their Halo headgear today — the Pacific Coast League baseball crown.

The Angels edged Tulsa's Oilers 3-1 Tuesday night to win their first title since the late Fred Hutchinson guided them to a pennant in 1955 before the league was plit into two divisions.

Seattle's victory margin in the series was four games to three for the Oilers, who had won the Eastern Division championship by 4½ games in their first year in the PCL. Tight defensive play and brilliant pitching marked all seven games.

ELHS-Midland Clash Tops Local Grid Card

Wellsville, Oak Glen In Home Tilts

Following the bruises of opening battles, the district high school teams move into their second round of action this weekend with 11 games listed on the local card.

Friday's eight - game schedule will be featured by East Liverpool's visit to Midland where the Leopards new head coach Joe Hamilton will attempt to halt the Potters winning string over Midland.

SINCE the series was renewed the Potters have won the last four encounters including last year's great come from behind victory which showed East Liverpool trailing by three touchdowns at halftime only to come back to win.

The Potters blended a running and passing to move past Mt. Vernon 26-12 in the opener Saturday night while Midland crushed Western Beaver, 40-6, as the Beavers were making their first appearance on the gridiron.

WELLSVILLE with Todd Weekley & Co. will be matched against an improved Lisbon team which ended a 19 - game losing streak last Friday by defeating Carrollton.

Wellsville dropped its opener in a thriller, 28-21, at Oak Glen. In that game Coach Ken Woods saw Weekley gain 171 yards rushing.

Oak Glen will go after its second victory in three outings meeting a strong Wellsburg eleven at Newell Memorial Stadium. Coach Bob Starkey found a surprise last week in the Wellsville game when Alan Six, seeing his first duty in the backfield, reeled off over 140 yards and three touchdowns.

BEAVER Local, which outplayed Columbiana in statistics last week will travel to Leetonia Friday night. Leetonia appears to be stronger this season after surprising United in last week's opener.

Southern Local, a winner in its opener at Greenford will face much stiffer competition Friday at Springfield Local in Jefferson County. It also will mark the first Buckeye Border Conference game for Beau Bell's team.

Columbiana seeks its second straight victory with Youngstown North invading.

STANTON Local, which turned in an impressive victory in its opener by shuting out Hopedale, makes its first home appearance of the season with Mt. Pleasant visiting.

Western Beaver will make its second appearance on the gridiron traveling to West Allegheny.

Saturday's schedule of three games shows East Palestine meeting West Branch at Salem while two afternoon games finds Sebring at United and Avalon at South Side.

District Grid Schedule

Wellsburg at Oak Glen
Youngstown North at Columbiana

Western Beaver at W. Allegheny
Mt. Pleasant at Stanton

Alley's 4-For-5 Night Puts Average To .303

HOUSTON (AP) — Slick-fielding Gene Alley of the Pittsburgh Pirates apparently has come into his own as a batter.

Alley, owner of a rifle arm and an important cog in one of the smoothest double play combinations in the majors, had a four-for-five night at the plate Tuesday in the Pirates' 9-3 victory over Houston.

The hitting spree raised Alley's average to .303, making him the fifth Pirate regular above .300.

The skinny shortstop singled in the first, doubled home a run in the third, singled and scored in the seventh and singled in the eighth.

Alley's rampage paced a 16-hit attack off four Astro pitchers.

Matty Alou, leading the league with .350, contributed three singles; Willie Stargell, .316; Roberto Clemente, .327; and Donn Clendenon, .301, each got two hits.

Stargell drove in four runs with a sacrifice fly and three-run homer, his 30th, in the rout, while Clendenon hit his 22nd homer.

Stargell's homer came in the seventh inning with Pittsburgh clinging to a 3-2 lead. It was the heart of a five-run explosion that carried Pittsburgh past Houston.

The Astros, held scoreless for 37 innings by the Dodgers this past weekend, finally scored in the fourth inning, their first run in 43 innings.

Pittsburgh is off today. The Pirates play the Dodgers Thursday night at Los Angeles.

Grid Dinners Set At Beaver Local By Booster Club

Providing dinners for Beaver Local High School football players following four away games was authorized by the Boosters Club at a meeting Tuesday night.

Donald Ross, coach, screened films on the Beaver Local-Columbiana game.

William Roberts resigned as trustee due to business reasons. Mrs. Robert Charlton discussed corrections to be made in the football programs on typographical errors.

Discussion was held on student booster club membership for which seventh through ninth grade students will be eligible. Jim Burcham said tickets are provided by Carrolls Market.

Burcham reported glass for the press box at the field will cost an estimated $165. It was suggested installation be delayed until other repairs are made to the box.

It was reported benches for players were provided by James Sigler. Mrs. Donald Brooks was introduced as a new member by Mrs. Jack Havice.

The next meeting will be Sept. 27.

Lafayette holds a 59-37 edge in its football series with Lehigh. Five games ended in ties. The series began in 1884.

Southern Cal Given Nod Over Texas On First Big Weekend Of Football

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The June bugs still are buzzing around the garden, but here it is the start of the football season. Here are this week's winners:

Louisiana State over South Carolina: When this one was scheduled, it was just an ordinary game but now that Paul Dietzel, onetime LSU coach is boss of the Carolinians, it has taken on the hue of a grudge match.

Southern California over Texas: Trojans patched all their holes with junior college transfers, some of whom are potential super stars. Texas defense built around Diron Talbert.

Michigan State over North Carolina State: Two-thirds of the Spartans' Rose Bowl squad returns, including Bob Apisa, the Hawaiian Hummer.

Nebraska over Texas Christian: Once again, Nebraska has everything. Tackle Bob Pickens is a svelte 274-pounder.

UCLA over Pittsburgh: The Panthers from the East have neither teeth nor claws while the Bruins have Gary Beban, who rewrote the book last year as a sophomore quarterback.

Arkansas over Oklahoma State: Oklahoma State will be strong on defense while the Porkers are strong on defense — and offense.

Purdue over Ohio University: Bob Griese still directs the Boilermaker attack.

Georgia over Mississippi State: The Georgians missed the Southeastern Conference title by two plays last year. This year they will be even better.

Illinois over Southern Methodist: The Illini are rated one of the best in the Big Ten. Jerry Levias, a flanker for the Mustangs, rated one of the country's best sophomores.

Navy over Boston College: Both teams have giant lines, but Navy also has solved its quarterback problems in the person of John Cartwright.

Missouri over Minnesota: Graduation losses were less at Missouri.

Washington State over California: A squeaker.

Could Have Passed Koufax

Gopher Ball Keeps Kaat From Gaining 24th Win

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jim Kaat, who leads the majors in home runs given up by a 23-game winner, has finally had cause to regret it.

Of course, there's only one other pitcher with 23 victories around — fellow name of Koufax — and Kaat, who had won eight games in a row despite opposition homers, was done in by a couple Tuesday and missed a golden opportunity to pass Sandy in most victories.

A three-run homer by Willie Horton and a solo by Bill Freehan gave Detroit just enough runs to post a 6-5 triumph over Minnesota and deny Kaat his 24th victory and ninth in a row.

In his last four outings, the Minnesota southpaw has surrendered six homers, but not till Tuesday did it seem to matter. The Twins always came back with at least enough runs to win, and often a lot more than enough.

They almost did it again Tuesday, too. Minnesota got three unearned runs in the second and, after Detroit had taken a 6-3 lead, Zoilo Versalles hit a home run to bring Minnesota within a run.

In all, Kaat has given up 22 home runs this season, as against 17 allowed by Koufax. Jim was nicked for a first-inning run by the Tigers and then retired 16 men in a row before Jake Wood singled in the sixth inning. Al Kaline then walked and Horton hit his 25th homer. Freehan hit his the following inning.

In other American League contests, Boston beat Chicago 10-1, Washington edged New York 3-2 and Kansas City outlasted Cleveland 3-1 in 15 innings. Baltimore and California were rained out.

The Detroit victory put the Tigers back in second place, 9½ games behind the Orioles, and dropped the Twins to third, 10 games out.

George Scott was the hero of the Boston rout, driving in four runs with a single and a double. Jim Lonborg gave up just six hits, including two doubles and a single.

Bob Saverine hit a two-run homer, boosting the Senators past the Yanks as Phil Ortega, 11-12, went the distance. Bobby Murcer drove in a run for the Yankees with a triple and scored on a single by Joe Pepitone.

Kansas City and Cleveland were threatening to play just about forever until Roger Repoz' two-run homer in the 15th sent everybody home. Fred Whitfield's 27th homer had tied the game for Cleveland in the eighth.

Beban, Farr Give UCLA 1-2 Punch

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The time has about arrived, says Coach Tommy Prothro of UCLA to ascertain if the Bruins are boys or men.

The Uclans open the 1966 season against Pittsburgh here Saturday night and Prothro and his aides might learn much about his last year champions — 7-2-1 in the Athletic Association of Western Universities and Rose Bowl conquerors of mighty Michigan State.

Prothro apparently is not concerned with his two aces on offense, Gary Beban, his brilliant option pass — run quarterback, and halfback Mel Farr, of whom Tommy says:

"He's the best halfback I've ever been close to."

So it is probably the rank and file membership on the squad that the coach is thinking about. It's nice, Prothro admits, to replay the stunning upset over Southern Cal that sent the Bruins to the Rose Bowl, and the 14-12 conquest of Michigan State.

But this is a new season. Forget the past.

Prothro coaches the shifting-T, with a moving quarterback. And Beban, as a 19-year-old sophomore, truly moved himself and the team.

Now 20, the sturdy 6-foot 190 pounder passed for 1,483 yards and nine touchdowns, and ran for 590 and 14 TDs.

Farr, a senior, is the second half of the Bruins' potent one-two scoring punch. He stands 6-foot-2, weighs 208 and has the strength to break tackles.

Give him a couple of yards, Prothro says, and Farr will go all the way. He rushed for 821 yards and gained 180 on passes last year.

Back after a year's absence due to a broken ankle is the opposite halfback, Cornell Champion. Much was expected of him a year ago. If he plays well, UCLA will be even more dangerous on the ground.

The pass reception department may be suspect since three of the top catchers graduated. They were Kurt Altenberg, Dick Wicher and Byron Nelson.

The Uclans, are small, as they were last year. The key men on defense are All-America guard John Richardson, 254 pounds and a real grid animal, and linebacker Dallas Grider, 212. Richardson is 6-foot-2 and Grider 5-foot-11. Both are seniors.

Prothro contends the team will have to play as it did last year. "Fanatical" is the way the drawling Prothro puts it.

Canton Fighter Wins On Split Decision

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Marion Conner of Canton won a split decision over Henry Hank of Detroit in a 10-round light heavyweight bout Tuesday night.

Referee Tony Zale scored it 54-46 for Hank, but Judges Wallace Bailey and Jim Manos had the edge for Conner, who now has a 22-5-1 record.

Yesterday's Stars

BATTING—Lou Johnson, Dodgers, drove in four runs with two homers as Los Angeles crushed the New York Mets 8-3 and maintained their 1½-game lead in the National League.

PITCHING—Juan Marichal, Giants, scattered seven hits for his 22nd victory as San Francisco downed Philadelphia 7-2.

It's Final! Tribe Eliminated From AL Pennant Race

CLEVELAND (AP) — It's final. The Cleveland Indians are mathematically eliminated from the American League pennant race.

The Kansas City Athletics did it Tuesday night in the 15th inning, with Roger Repoz slamming a two-run homer off reliever George Culver for a 3-1 victory.

Starter Steve Hargan labored through 13 innings, giving up only five hits and striking out 10. His only active supporter was Fred Whitfield, who hit a homer in the eighth inning to send the game into overtime.

The finale came when Culver, who suffered his second major league loss since coming up from the Portland farm club, gave up a single to Danny Cater. Repoz then slammed his ninth homer.

It was the Tribe's third straight loss and the fifth win in a row for the Athletics.

Cleveland's Sam McDowell faces John Odom tonight.

Pitt's Dave Hart Worried About Speed Of UCLA

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pitt football coach Dave Hart is more worried about speed than size as the Panthers approach their opening game Saturday night with UCLA.

'They aren't any bigger than we are, but they're a lot quicker," he said Tuesday.

He said the Bruins' quarterback, Gary Beban, practically gets away from the center before he has the ball. Mel Farr, halfback who gained 821 yards and scored six touchdowns last year, and Harold Busby, a 0.4 sprinter, also were named by Hart.

Pittsburgh's Rookie Center Is Sidelined

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Steelers announced Tuesday that rookie center Pat Killorin from Syracuse would probably miss Sunday's game against Detroit because of a sprained right knee.

Killorin was injured last Sunday in the National Football League opener against New York. Left tackle Dan James will sub if Ray Mansfield, regular center, needs help against the Lions.

Rookie flanker Jerry Simmons also is listed as a doubtful starter because of a bruised hip. Defensive back Paul Martha will fill in for him.

In the last three seasons, Lafayette College has won only four of 28 football games. Two ended in ties.

Cards' Roland Picked Back-Of-Week In NFL

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Roland wasn't even a starter last Sunday when the St. Louis Cardinals played the Philadelphia Eagles. He didn't play in the first half, except to run back a punt for 11 yards.

But when Charley Winner, new Cardinal coach, cut him loose in the second half, he helped St. Louis turn a 10-3 deficit into a 16-13 victory. Johnny will start from now on.

Because of his inspired performance under pressure, The Associated Press has selected the Missouri rookie halfback as the Offensive Player of the Week in the National Football League.

Roland ran for first downs three times after he entered the game. He rushed eight times for 53 yards, caught two passes for 40 yards, returned two kickoffs for 50 yards and brought back two punts for 16 yards. For his first day on the job—even if it was a half day — he contributed 159 yards to total offense.

"I thought about starting Roland earlier in the week," Winner said. "But I decided to go with experience. I went to him in the second half because he's an opportunist. He reminds me of Paul Hornung in that he makes the most of what he has."

Roland, who played defense last year at Missouri to plug a need, has become a prime favorite with Card fans. He grabbed a deflected pass for a 37-yard gainer on a third-and-33 situation. The catch, after Joe Scarpati of Philadelphia and Sonny Randle of the Cards collided and both touched the ball, set up the go-ahead TD for a 13-10 lead, in the final period.

Jim Bakken's 27-yard field goal finally won the game in the last five seconds.

Bart Starr of Green Bay scored a touchdown on an improvised eight-yard run out of the passing pocket and mixed his plays well in a 24-3 romp over Baltimore.

Starr completed 14 of 19 for 138 yards and also ran three times for 36 yards. Jim Taylor also sparkled for Green Bay on offense by rushing 16 times for 76 yards.

Bill Brown of Minnesota took out after the running title vacated by Jim Brown when he carried 16 times for 99 yards in the Vikings' 20-20 tie with San Francisco. Fred Cox tied it with a 31-yard field goal into the wind with six seconds to go.

Homer Jones, the New York Giants' fleet spread end, scored twice at Pittsburgh on pass plays from Earl Morrall that covered 75 and 98 yards. He caught only two all day in the 34-34 tie, but they added up to 173 yards.

Season Ticket Sale Will End At Midland

Vic Martinetti, athletic director at Lincoln High School, Midland, said today that all season football ticket books not purchased by Thursday at 9 p.m. at the Katach Confectionery will be placed on sale at the reserve seat ticket booth at the field Friday at 6:30 p.m. He said tickets for the East Liverpool - Midland game still are available at the confectionery.

Look inside a pair of Innovator Slacks. You'll discover their slimming secret: a unique 4" elastic webbing in the waistband and over the abdomen. It supports you in the one place you're likely to need it.

The elastic also makes the slacks rest comfortably on your hips. No baggy drawstring effect. Innovators close smoothly, too—with a beltless tab. $19.95 and $21.95

First Glance At Statistics Misleading

NEW YORK (AP) — Statistics can be misleading. The first crop of team figures for the National Football League emphasize the point.

The Chicago Bears are best on defense, according to the yardage tale, yielding only 208 yards in their opener. But they lost to Detroit 14-3.

Pittsburgh was No. 1 against the running game, holding New York to 32 yards. They just got out with a 34-34 tie.

San Francisco was the top performer on pass defense, allowing Minnesota only 72 yards. Still, the 49ers wound up in a 20-20 tie with the Vikings.

Look at the figures for team offense.

Los Angeles had the best over-all attack with 421 yards. They managed to sneak through against the new expansion team from Atlanta, 19-14, but they did it with four field goals.

The Vikings, shot down in the air, were the leading rushers with 226 yards in their 20-20 tie with the 49ers.

Los Angeles also showed the way in passing offense with 275 yards, but Roman Gabriel's 21 of 35 produced only one touchdown in that 19-14 victory.

Individual offensive leaders for the first week were Bill Brown of Minnesota with 99 yards on 16 carries to top the rushers and Tommy McDonald of Los Angeles with nine catches for 114 yards and No. 1 place among the receivers.

Bill Nelsen of Pittsburgh was rated first among the passers in the complicated rating system used by the NFL.

And No Relation!

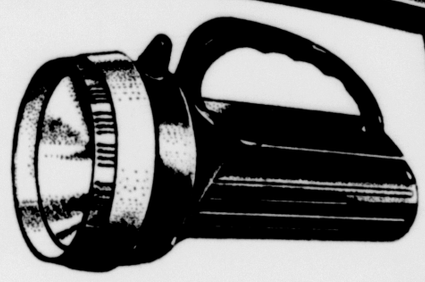

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP) — Behind quarterback Joe Barone in the Rutgers freshman starting backfield are Barry Miller of North Canton, Ohio; Alan Miller of Hillside, N.J., no relation, and Bob Miller of Dover, N.J. no relation to either Barry or Alan.

Mass Set Thursday For Former Cage Star

XENIA, Ohio (AP) — Archbishop Karl J. Alter of Cincinnati will officiate Thursday at a requiem high mass for the Rev. Alphonse L. Schumacher, 72, a member of the College Basketball Hall of Fame. Father Schumacher died Sunday night.

Death came in the rectory of St. Brigid Catholic Church, Xenia, where the onetime great forward for St. Marys Institute—now the University of Dayton—was pastor.

Franks Inks New 1-Year Giant Pact

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Herman Franks has signed a third one-year contract to manage the San Francisco Giants, fighting now for the National League pennant.

"We all think he has done a splendid job," announced club owner Horace Stoneham Tuesday. "There was no question he would be rehired."

Terms were not announced. But it was believed Franks, 51, will get $50,000 for leading the club in 1967.

He doesn't need the money. He doesn't even need the job. A number of shrewd investments in land, supermarkets and a mobile home business have left him independently wealthy. But, as he has explained, he likes the challenge. His playing career lasted 19 years.

Stoneham also announced that Franks will retain all his present coaches next year—Charlie Fox, Cookie Lavagetto and Larry Jansen. Pitching coach Jansen currently is recovering from a recent heart attack.

Franks is somewhat of a switch as a manager. He asks for one-year pacts only while most managers would prefer the security of a multi-year agreement. Franks also does not cater to the press. He's often gruff with newsmen.

But owner Stoneham likes the way he handles the players. Team Capt. Willie Mays, 35, is happy with Franks because the center fielder can get needed rests anytime he asks for them.

Most of the other players also like the way Franks rallies around them and the way he protects them from critical comment by newsmen who follow the team.

Franks lives in Salt Lake City where he has extensive business interests. He's invested some money there with Mays.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

DEAR HELOISE: Being a grandmother with quite a few young grandchildren, I receive many pictures of them.

What to do with those pictures besides stashing them away in a drawer or album?

When my husband painted my bedroom, I had him paint a peg board (48x24 inches), and the same color as the walls.

I put a 5-inch nylon net ruffle all around it to form a pretty frame. (I used white.)

Then I arranged the nicest and latest pictures of each grandchild on the board, attaching them with thumb tacks.

Now as I make the bed, I can enjoy each picture.

Not only that, I can replace them with new pictures as the children grow up, and no one will get their feelings hurt as grandma has room for them all!

MRS. CARL MUMFORD.

DEAR HELOISE: I make placemats and matching napkins from the good part of old tablecloths before discarding them.

PENNY PINCHER.

DEAR HELOISE: I enjoy your column so much, and want to pass along the idea of stapling that belt buckle back on if it comes off the belt.

Much quicker than struggling to sew it back on.

G. S. B.

DEAR HELOISE: For the busy mother who has to pack school lunches: If you have a pre - schooler or two still at home, prepare their lunches at the same time as the school children's.

I even put them in lunch bags with their names on them, then put the bags in the refrigerator.

When lunch time rolls around, you're all set. There is no dirtying up the kitchen again, and the little ones love it.

It makes them feel as important as brother or sister in school —and mother doesn't have to stop whatever she is doing to fix their lunches.

Why don't you go one step further, Joan, and fix a lunch for yourself at the same time? After all, busy mommies have to eat, too!

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Here is a hint for mothers of children who play with teen dolls.

Save the tops of toothpaste and cocoa containers. They make darling tiny glasses and plates for the dolls.

SUZANNE YANOWSKI.

DEAR HELOISE: If you are going on a trip and in a hurry to leave, use paper plates, coffee cups and napkins for that last meal.

This enables you to do a quick clean-up operation in the kitchen and speed up your departure.

ANNE COFFEY.

DEAR HELOISE: This is a quick, wonderful way to clean up after a sick child.

Keep a small sack of kitty litter in the house.

If the child throws up before reaching the bathroom, cover the spot with the kitty litter. . . all will be absorbed immediately and NO ODOR.

I work for a doctor who is a pediatrician. . .it works for us in the office.

MAXINE COOVER.

DEAR HELOISE: I have found that when I'm typing and have to erase a letter, it is best to use the soft, white part of the eraser first. Then use the rougher side of the beveled erasers.

Using the rougher side first seems to grind the ink into the page.

MRS. N. GUTHER.

Pittsburgh Bid To Suspend Milk Price Hike Loses

HARRISBURG (AP) — Commonwealth Court has denied a request by the City of Pittsburgh and Allegheny County to suspend a 1½-cent-per-quart increase in the consumer price of milk in the 13-county Pittsburgh Marketing Area.

The ruling, handed down Tuesday by Judge R. Dixon Herman, stated only that the request for a temporary suspension pending a formal hearing on the legality of the price increase was denied.

No hearing date has been set.

The State Milk Control Commission, after an emergecy public hearing, auhhorized the price increase in August.

Last Friday, attorneys for Pittsburgh and Allegheny County, challenged the legality of the increase, and also asked the court for the suspension.

Mrs. Marion Finkelhor, assistant city solicitor, argued that the commission had exceeded its authority in calling the hearing.

William Morgan, counsel for the commission, contended however that the price increase was necessary because of emergency conditions created when milk dealers in neighboring states raised their prices to farmers.

Pennsylvania Soldier Killed In Viet Action

Late Judge Allen Credited With 4 Judicial Firsts

CLEVELAND (AP) — Judge Florence Ellinwood Allen achieved at least four judicial firsts on the local, state and federal levels en route to the highest federal judgeship ever held by a woman.

Judge Allen was the first woman federal judge in the country in 1934 when President Franklin D. Roosevelt appointed her to the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals at Cincinnati. She retired as senior judge of that court in 1959, the highest ranking woman jurist.

She died Monday night at 82 in her home in Waite Hill, Lake County. Memorial services will be held Friday.

When Judge Allen was appointed to the federal bench, she already had achieved two judicial firsts as a woman, winning election as a Cuyahoga County common Peas Judge in 1920 and serving two terms on the Ohio Supreme Court (1922-24).

Election Planned By Ruritan Club

William Poe of the Potters Savings and Loan Co. was enrolled as a new member.

Plans were completed for the annual sale of Christmas bows and wrapping paper for the benefit of the retarded children's program.

The next meeting will be Oct. 10 at the fire station.

13-Week Strike Ends With Contract Accord

MURRAY, Ky. (AP) — Employes on strike 13 weeks at the Tappan Co.'s Murray Division have accepted a contract offer on the heels of the Mansfield, Ohio - based appliance firm's threat to move out of Murray.

Tappan had called the offer, accepted by vote of United Auto Workers Local 1068 Tuesday, its "final" one. A national UAW official said he wasn't happy with the three-year contract terms but that the local union members had no alternative.

The union, representing 800 of the plant's 1,000 employes, planned to release the vote tally today, after certification.

Toledo Suburb Police Accept Pay Increase

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Pay raises for police in suburban Oregon have been proffered and accepted while Toledo police and firemen continue to demonstrate for a better offer than City Council has made so far.

Oregon Council approved $900 annual increases in salary and a $100 raise in the present $50 yearly uniform allowance, a package $300 under that asked by the 18-member force but drawing a "we're satisfied" from police negotiators.

Industry Man, 41, Jailed In Drunk Driving Charge

A 41-year-old Beaver County man who was arrested on a drunken driving charge after a 100-mile-an-hour pursuit on the East Liverpool - Wellsville Rd. early on Sept. 5 was given a five-day term in City Jail and fined $250 and costs today when he entered a guilty plea before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff.

Laco R. Shreve of Industry R.D. 1 was cited on the charge at 3:15 a.m. on Labor Day by Officers J. T. Garrison and J. F. Cusick of the State Highway Patrol. He had been free on a $507 bond pending his hearing today.

THE JUDGE heard evidence from Officer Garrison and then listened to a plea in mitigation from George A. Aronson, counsel for Shreve.

In addition to the fine and the jail sentence, the judge said he will ask the Pennsylvania Bureau of Motor Vehicles to suspend Shreve's driver's license. An Ohio judge has no right to suspend a Pennsylvania permit, but he may suggest the action in the state in which the permit was issued.

Officer Garrison testified he was pulling his cruiser onto a Freeway ramp in West End when he saw a red convertible southbound on the four - lane highway "at a high rate of speed." He turned his cruiser around and gave chase, next catching sight of the auto outside the East Liverpool city limits, he said.

The patrolman said he hit a 100-mile-an-hour pace before getting close enough to Shreve to check his speed. He "clocked" the other car at 90, but it was pulling away from him, he said. A little later, as Shreve neared Wellsville, the defendant's car was going "in excess of 100," he testified.

When Shreve got out of his car, he "staggered," the officer said. He related that he found an open can of beer in the driver's seat and noted a strong odor of alcohol on the defendant's breath. Shreve failed several sobriety checks, the officer said.

IN THE PLEA in mitigation, Aronson said Shreve is married and the father of two and "never has been in trouble before."

The day prior to the arrest, a World War II buddy and his wife arrived at Shreve's home for a brief visit, Aronson said. Shreve and his friend went to the American Legion Home at Midland to meet some more buddies from their Army days, he related. Shreve was driving another man's car, taking a friend to his home at Wellsville, at the time of his arrest, the attorney related. Shreve "is not a drinking man," he added.

The judge interrupted the attorney's plea to ask for an explanation for the 100-mile speed. Shreve replied that he did not realize he was driving so fast.

"A story like that stretches my imagination," the judge replied.

"This court has devoted itself to taking drivers of this type off the highways," the judge told the defendant and his counsel. "I can see no reason why I should make an exception in this case."

Dialogue Features Report At Church Group Session

A dialogue highlighted the report of the summer school of missions given during the meeting of the WSCS of the First Methodist Church Monday night in Fellowship Hall.

Mrs. Robert Wotring and Mrs. Robert Bloor, who were delegates to the event at Mt. Union College, presented a resume of the program and the dialogue "Two In a Trap" concerning the theme of the conference on "Poverty." The year's theme for the local group is "Dialogue And Design."

In opening the business session, Mrs. Wotring, president, offered a challenge for the years.

The minutes and correspondence were read by Mrs. Bloor, secretary.

The group were advised of the fall district sessions and workshops Sept. 27 at Sherrodsville and Sept. 28 at Brilliant.

Other forthcoming events are the public dinner to be served by Susannah Wesley Circle Oct. 20 and the annual "Harvest Home" dinner Nov. 10.

Refreshments were served 35 by members of the Susannah Wesley Circle. The buffet table was decorated with yellow and white mums, flanked by white tapers in crystal holders.

The next session will be Oct. 10, with Rebekah Circle the hostess unit. The program committee will have charge of the worship and program.

Navy planes from the aircraft carrier Intrepid made six forays against a group of railroad cars southwest of Thanh Hoa, destroying or heavily damaging 20 boxcars and flat cars.

North Viet Nam's official paper Nhan Dan said U.S. forces in South Viet Nam "are trying to gain a breathing spell in order to prepare for a bigger counteroffensive with greater stakes in the coming dry season."

In Washington, Pentagon officials estimated millions of dollars in buildings supplies sent to Viet Nam have been stolen or damaged in unloading operations or ruined by exposure due to lack of storage facilities.

cratic primary, but promised to support Tuesday's victor in November.

This means Kennedy will be working for McCormack, whom he defeated in a bitter battle for the Senate nomination in 1962, in his general election campaign against GOP incumbent John A. Volpe, who was unopposed. McCormack is the nephew of House Speaker John W. McCormack.

Former Massachusetts Gov. Endicott Peabody, trying for a political comeback, defeated Boston Mayor John F. Collins in the Democratic race for Senate nomination.

Peabody will face in November Republican Atty. Gen. Edward W. Brooke, who was nominated without opposition. If victorious, Brooke will be the first Negro to sit in the Senate in 85 years.

Peabody also defeated a third candidate, Thomas B. Adams, a descendant of President John Adams and John Quincy Adams. Adams campaigned in opposition to the Viet Nam war.

Wisconsin Democrats gave Lt. Gov. Patrick J. Lucey their nomination for governor. Lucey, a staunch supporter of President Kennedy, will face Republican Gov. Warren P. Knowles, who was unopposed for renomination.

In other primaries Tuesday:

Arizona — Former Phoenix Mayor Jack Williams won the GOP nomination for governor. Gov. Sam Goddard and Rep. George F. Senner Jr., Democrats, were in tight races for renomination.

Colorado — J. Edgar Chenoweth, a House member for 22 years of the last 26 years, appeared losing to David W. Enoch in a Republican bid for renomination to another term. Rep. Frank E. Evans, who defeated Chenoweth two years ago, won Democratic renomination. Sen. Gordon L. Allott and Gov. John A. Love won Republican renominations.

Maryland — Baltimore contractor George P. Mahoney defeated Rep. Carlton R. Sickles in a tight race for Democratic gubernatorial nomination. Sickles supported open housing, Mahoney opposed it. The winner faces Spiro T. Agnew, county executive of Baltimore County, who won the GOP nomination.

New Hampshire — Former Gov. Hugh Gregg won GOP nomination to challenge Democratic Gov. John W. King. Retired Brig. Gen. Harrison R. Thyng earned the GOP bid to try unseating Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, a Democrat. Rep. J. Oliva Huot, a freshman Democrat and supporter of President Johnson's Viet Nam policies, won renomination against William F. Horan Jr., who argued that only volunteers should be sent to Viet Nam. In another Democratic House race marked by the Viet Nam controversy, administration supporter William Barry Jr. downed Eugene S. Daniell Jr., a sharp foe of Johnson's war policies.

New Jersey — Warren W. Wilentz, a supporter of administration Viet Nam policies, captured the Democratic Senate nomination from David Frost, a vehement critic of the war. Wilentz will challenge Republican Sen. Clifford P. Case, unopposed in the primary.

Rhode Island — Lt. Col. Ruth M. Briggs, a retired WAC, defeated conservative Charles H. Eden in the GOP senatorial race and will oppose Democratic incumbent Clairborne Pell in November. Rep. Fernand J. St. Germain won a tight Democratic battle for renomination.

Wellsville Legislation On Tax Levy Amended

Wellsville City Council held a special meeting Tuesday night to clarify a resolution adopted last week to place a one-mill levy on the Nov. 8 ballot for operation of Springhill Cemetery.

The original resolution said the levy would be collected in the tax years 1967 through 1969. The dates were corrected to read the tax years of 1966, 1967 and 1968. The tax year runs a year behind the calendar year. For instance, the calendar year 1966 is the tax year 1965.

The three-year levy will raise approximately $11,000 per year. The money will be used for improvements to the cemetery and the purchase of equipment.

Councilman Glenn Mathess was absent.

Sheppard Asks Trial Be Out Of Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP) — Attorneys for Samuel H. Sheppard filed a motion today asking that his second murder trial, scheduled to begin here Oct. 18, be moved out of Cleveland.

Judge Roy F. McMahon said he would decide later whether to hold an oral hearing on the change of venue motion or to receive briefs and rule after studying them.

The one - paragraph motion said: "A fair and impartial trial cannot be had in this county. This will be supported by evidence."

Hammondsville Man Cited After Collision

Six good reasons for all-number phone numbers

To make sure today's children can enjoy phone service when they grow up, Ohio Bell is making important changes now... like switching to all-number phone numbers

Who'd ever think the telephone company could run out of telephone numbers?

Well, a lot of telephone men with slide rules and forecast charts know it could happen. It's their job to see that it doesn't. They figure how much service and how many phone numbers you and your children will want in years ahead. So Ohio Bell can keep working and planning ahead to be ready for you. ■ Most of us would think you could make enough combinations from an alphabet and ten numbers to last forever. But telephone statisticians know you can't. Not with the population explosion. Not with the rapid formation of new family units. Not with today's business and industrial expansion. ■ They predict that, in some areas, we could run out of name-number combinations, like KLondike 5-2368, as early as 1970! But...changing to all-number telephone numbers provides 50% more combinations that will give your children and grandchildren all the numbers they'll need for years to come.

Fischer Quints Mark Third Birthday Today

ABERDEEN, S.D. (AP) — Jimmy, Cathy, Margie, Mary Ann and Maggie — the Fischer quintuplets — celebrate their third birthday today on their parents' 800-acre farm. The party should be a noisy one.

Friends say the quints are a very talkative group with Jimmy, the biggest, having the most to say. With their brother and five sisters, all under 11, joining in, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Fischer should have their hands full passing the ice cream and cake.

The party will be private, however, and the Fischers have decided not to disclose what gifts the youngsters are getting.

The quints are described as healthy and lively. Three wear glasses to correct weak eye muscles. Jimmy apparently prefers playing with his brother Danny, 10, rather than his sisters.

Residents of this Northern Plains city of 20,000 rarely see the children. When they do catch a glimpse of them, it's usually as the Fischers drive by in their station wagon.

Fischer, who was a $76-a-week warehouse shipping clerk when the quints were born, now operates the farm he bought near the southwest edge of Aberdeen. The family lives in a 17-room house, about a half-mile from the highway.

Mrs. Fischer has hired help to assist with the children but she usually is joined on Saturdays by her mother, Mrs. Elmer Brady, who lives in nearby Hecla.

Grandma Brady was one of the few visitors on hand today.

Central State University Seeking More Students

WILBERFORCE, Ohio (AP)— While most U.S. colleges are trying to find space for more students, Central State University is trying to find more students.

Central State, a fully accredited school that has been a state school since 1951, had an enrollment of 2,194 full - time students when classes opened a year ago. This year, President Harry E. Groves says, enrollment might be lower.

Classes started last week, but registration continues through Friday.

Central State's classrooms could easily accommodate 3,000 or more students this year, Dr. Groves says, and dormitory space is still available. Also, the university can practically guarantee financial aid to needy youngsters.

The money help is available mainly through National Defense Education loans, Office of Economic Opportunity grants and work-study grants, all federal programs.

One reason for Central State's rare problem, Dr. Groves says, is that "We still have a 'predominantly Negro' image, although when I look around the campus I can see that about a quarter of the students are white."

The present Central State campus was once part of Wilberforce University, which is operated by the African Methodist Episcopal Church. The state operated a college for several years within the framework of the private Wilberforces University then created Central State.

"Some white students may not want to come here because of prejudice," Dr. Groves says, but he considers that only one of many factors holding down enrollment.

The main reason is lack of money: "Many of our students don't know whether they'll enroll until the father gets that last paycheck."

In its recently released master plan for higher education, the Ohio Board of Regents pointed out that many Central State students have been forced to drop out of school before graduation because of financial difficulties.

The master plan also said "the university is uneconomical to operate with its present enrollment and ought to have at least 5,000 students."

Panel Named To Hear Rail Merger Foes

NEW YORK (AP) — A panel of three federal judges will hear the case of seven railroads seeking to block the $6 billion merger of the Pennsylvania and New York Central Railroads which has been approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The panel, named Tuesday by Chief Judge J. Edward Lumbard of the U.S. Court of Appeals, may meet by next Wednesday.

Lumbard arranged for the case to be heard by judge Henry J. Friendly of the Court of Appeals and District Court Judges Richard H. Levet und Edward Weinfeld.

The panel also will consider whether an injunction should be issued against carrying out the merger until the review is completed.

Lumbard named the panel after Levet announced he would permit six other railroads to enter the legal opposition to the merger, originally filed by the Erie-Lackawanna Railroad.

Levet agreed with the petitioning railroads that a three-judge panel should review the ICC approval of the merger, scheduled to become effective Sept. 30.

The railroads permitted to join the Erie-Lackawanna are the Baltimore and Ohio, Chesapeake and Ohio, Norfolk and Western, Delaware and Hudson, Chicago and Eastern Illinois, and Boston and Maine.

All but the B&M had previously filed other court actions, and the B&M was expected to do so shortly.

The Erie-Lackawanna suit charged that the ICC approved the merger on the basis of "false representations" by the lines planning to merge, and that a merger would have "substantial impact" on other railroads.

Man, 64, Dies After Fall In Elevator Shaft

CLEVELAND (AP) — A 64-year-old man died in a hospital Tuesday two hours after he fell down an elevator shaft at the Hotel Belmont.

Police said the victim, George Schultz, fell 15 feet from the third floor to the top of the elevator car parked at the first floor. The Cuyahoga County coroner's office will rule.

The hotel's night clerk discovered Schultz when she heard him moaning. At the time, she was on her way to investigate a disturbance on the third floor.

Over Rhodesian Crisis

Pearson Seeks To Avert Breakup Of Conference

LONDON (AP) — Canadian Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson was striving today to avert a breakup of the 22-nation Commonwealth conference over the Rhodesian crisis.

He and his aides worked through the night on a compromise formula to reconcile the widely diverging views on how best to end the 10-month-old rebellion by Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith's white minority government.

Fifteen Asian, African and Caribbean countries and Cyprus want a guarantee from Britain that it will not grant statehood to Rhodesia until a government representing the colony's four million Africans is installed in Salisbury.

British Prime Minister Harold Wilson has declined to give such a pledge. He favors a gradual transition to black African self-rule.

He also rejected African-Asian demands for the use of force to bring down Smith's regime or for comprehensive and compulsory sanctions, backed by force if necessary.

Only Australia, New Zealand, Malta and Malawi wholeheartedly backed Wilson's proposals for tougher, but selective sanctions to end Smith's rebellion.

Both sides insist that their points of view be spelled out in the conference's final communique. Wilson, the conference chairman, asked Pearson to come up with a compromise.

The Canadian prime minister has played a conciliatory role throughout the eight days of wrangling over Rhodesia.

The conference is scheduled to end Thursday but the delegates have not completed half of their agenda because of the time devoted to the Rhodesian issue.

The Asian, African and Caribbean nations also have urged the introduction of a one-man-one-vote system if a referendum should be needed to test Rhodesian national opinion on any constitutional settlement.

They also insist on immediate release of African political prisoners in Rhodesia as soon as Smith's white supremacist regime is brought down.

Wilson set out Monday to win Commonwealth backing for his gradual plan, pleading for more time for a negotiated settlement with Smith.

Smith declared independence Nov. 11 over Britain's insistence that Rhodesia's black majority be given a voice in running the colony. There are 225,000 whites in Rhodesia.

Pen Inmate Goes To Appeals Court

Erwin Brown, former Irondale resident whose appeal for release from Ohio State Penitentiary was turned down Aug. 17 in Columbiana County Common Pleas Court, is taking his case to the Seventh District Court of Appeals.

Judge Joel H. Sharp ruled last month at Lisbon after review of the 19-year-old case that Brown is not entitled to relief from a life sentence for two murders here.

A jury found Brown guilty of the pistol slaying of his wife, Beulah, and Brade Fetty Dec. 14, 1946, at a Short Alley residence.

The latest appeal is based, Brown said, on the question of violation of his constitutional rights.

Humphrey's Due To Speak Oct. 7 At WVU Festival

MORGANTOWN (AP) — Vice President Hubert Humphrey has accepted an invitation to speak at West Virginia University Oct. 7 during the university's "Festival of Ideas" week-long program.

University student leaders and Sen. Jennings Randolph, D-W.Va., said Tuesday Humphrey will address students at the WVU fieldhouse on the subject: "The University — The Crucible of American Thought."

WVU's student administration is sponsoring the program from Oct. 2-8, inviting well known leaders in creative thought, research and other fields to hold discussions.

Among those scheduled to attend are the two St. Louis researchers who recently published their study on human sexual behavior. Also scheduled to attend is a national spokesman on the "God is Dead" theory.

The blood of animals can be distinguished from that of humans.

Warren's Mayor May Urge 5-Man Arbitration Unit

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—Mayor Raymond E. Schryver says he may propose a five - man arbitration board in an attempt to settle wage disputes of 240 striking city employes who have been off their jobs a week.

The striking American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes rejected an immediate 3 per cent increase offered by the city Monday night along with a 4 per cent increase effective Jan. 1.

Mayor Schryver said Tuesday he would propose that the arbitration board be made up of two representatives of the city administration, two union representatives and one member representing the public.

The union had demanded a 7 per cent across - the - board increase. The proposal rejected would have applied to sanitation workers, firemen and policemen, but not to employes of other city departments.

Meanwhile, garbage and rubbish is accumulating at the rate of 100 tons a day, according to city officials.

Private garbage collection is prohibited by city ordinance, and the only pickups have been at some hospitals and industries. Merchants report a brisk sale of garbage cans.

Residents who have moved into the city since last Wednesday, have no water in their homes.

GOP Works On Budget To Cut Spending

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans are working on a budget aimed at showing that President Johnson can cut federal spending by $4.7 billion instead of the $3 billion he proposed in his anti-inflation program.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen disclosed this Tuesday, forecasting the Republican Policy Coordinating Committee will lay down a detailed budget at an Oct. 3 meeting. At about the same time, the government issued a report indicating housewives are having a tougher time stretching their dollars at the supermarket.

The Labor Department said wholesale food prices rose 1.3 per cent in August. Retail figures for August will be announced later this month and are expcted also to show some increase.

The wholesale price index, which includes industrial materials and goods as well as farm products and processed foods, rose four-tenths of 1 per cent in August, the department said.

Also on the inflation front, Republican members of the House Ways and Means Committee challenged administration claims of a "first slice" $1.5-billion budget cut as part of Johnson's anti-inflation program.

Spokesmen for business and trade associations appear before the Ways and Means Committee today and are expected to oppose, or seek exceptions from, Johnson's plan to suspend for 16 months the 7 per cent tax credit businesses receive for equipment and plant outlays and the tax-advantageous accelerated depreciation allowance.

The administration opposes exempting any segment of the business community from Johnson's proposals.

Even as Dirksen was discussing with newsmen the GOP's plans for a counter anti-inflation budget, Republicans on a Senate Education subcommittee were joining in boosting a three-year higher education aid bill $1.1 billion above Johnson's requests.

Republican Sens. Jacob K. Javits of New York, Winston L. Prouty of Vermont and Peter Dominick of Colorado were recorded along with six liberal Democrats for increased spending for higher education.

Sen. John J. Williams of Delaware, who appears on his way to becoming the Republicans' voice of economy, told the Senate Johnson's recent lecture to Congress about holding spending authorizations down to his budget levels was well-deserved. But he said Johnson turned around, signed and praised two bills which exceeded his requests by $1.7 billion.

"This contradiction between speeches and actions is hard to reconcile," Williams said.

Hal Digs Into Mail Bag

Four Forfeit In Follow To 'Strip' Raids

Four arrested as the result of raids of three "Strip" clubs on Route 30 in Hancock County last week forfeited bonds when they failed to appear Tuesday night before Squire John D. Herron of New Cumberland.

Arthur Lewis, cited by Hancock County sheriff's deputies at the Surf Lounge, located in the Terrace Lanes Bowling Alley near Chester, forfeited a $107 bond when he failed to appear on a charge of possession of alcoholic liquor. Martha Jordan, a waitress, forfeited $57 on a charge of illegal sale of alcoholic beverages. Her arrest was not reported at the time of the raids.

Joseph Timmons, licensee of the Jade Lounge, also forfeited a $107 bond on the possession charge and his wife, Bonnie Timmons, a waitress, forfeited $57 for illegal sale.

Hearings were continued to Sept. 20 for Shirley Reed, licensee of the Cactus Bar, charged with possession, and a waitress, Linda Adkins, charged with sale of alcoholic beverages and possession of a gaming device.

Two others cited in the raids last week were fined at hearings earlier.

Budget Hearings Set For 5 Subdivisions

LISBON — Budget hearings are scheduled Friday at the Courthouse here for five subdivisions.

County Auditor Kenneth Bell said more than 40 taxing districts were given the opportunity for hearings on their 1967 budgets, but only the five requested hearings.

The Budget Commission consists of Bell, County Treasurer V. C. Judge and Prosecuting Atty. J. Warren Bettis.

Bell said representatives of the five agencies are to report at his office on the following schedule: 9 a. m., East Liverpool Board of Education; 10, city of Wellsville; 11, Madison Township trustees; 11:30, Middleton Township trustees, and 1 p. m., Salem Public Library.

100 Attend Campfire Rites, Awards Received By Scouts

Approximately 100 attended the campfire in recognition of Uniform Day and the kickoff for the fall roundup held at the Loblaw parking lot by Boy Scout Troop 12 of the Trinity United Presbyterian Church Monday evening.

The Court of Honor opened with the invocation by the Rev. H. Gene Toot, followed by the singing of "America" and the flag salute, led by Donald Skidmore, district representative.

Members in the Court of Honor were Colin Brown, neighborhood commissioner, Ralph Sims, Robert Hillyard, Donald Charleton, Herschal Rubin, Donald Raber and George Reynolds, committeemen of the troop.

The court members, together with Dale Thornton, scoutmaster, and Bernard Casto, assistant scoutmaster, presented 50 merit badges which Scouts earned during the summer.

The recipients were Terry Humphrey, Jerry Humphrey, George Schmidt, Richard Thornton, Dan Skidmore, John Hales, Tom Picciarelli, Donald Raber, Mark Allan Casto, Richards Sims, Dean K. Galas, Everett Watson, Alan Sims and Michael Parkes.

The rank of tenderfoot was presented to Roy Morgan, David Raber and James Dray; second class, David Toot, Leon Rubin, Thomas Charleton and Robert Thornton, and first class, Robert Brown.

Advanced to the rank of Star were Richard Sims and Donald Raber and life rank to Terry Humphrey. The star and life Boy Scouts received miniature pins which they in turn presented to their mothers.

Patches for those who attended the camporal last May at Echo Dale, were awarded Richard Sims, Danny Brown, James Dray, Thomas Charleton, Robert Thornton, James Jacobs, John Hales, Bruce Craft, Tom Picciarelli, George Schmidt, James Cline and Richard Thornton.

The scoutmaster announced that 22 Scouts attended the summer camp at Leesville in July, along with two adult leaders. Two Scouts from the troop were on the staff all summer and four served on the volunteer staff. Twenty-one received the Heritage award.

It also was announced that George Schmidt and Richard Thornton had attended the area 4-E conference in August at Sandcrest Scout Reservation, Wheeling.

Camp songs were sung by the troop, ending with taps, the Scout promise and prayer led by Terry Humphrey, George Schmidt and Ricky Thornton. A wiener roast followed the presentations.

Man's 'Serious' After Gun Wound

A 46-year-old Madison Township man, apparently despondent over the death of his wife last December, shot himself in the head with a pistol in a Route 7 restaurant Tuesday night and was in "very serious" condition today at a Pittsburgh hospital.

Henderson Crum of Route 7 near Williamsport was in the intensive care section of Mercy Hospital, Pittsburgh, with a .38-caliber bullet wound of the right temple area.

Madison Township Constable Clarence Ammon said Crum, a Crucible Steel Co. employe at the Midland Works, apparently fired the pistol against his temple while sitting at the counter of Pearl's Kitchen about 10:05 p. m.

Mr. and Mrs. Fleming Hurley, operators of the restaurant and brother-in-law and sister-in-law of Crum, were in the kitcheen when they heard the shot. Both said Crum had been depressed since the death of his wife and last night told them he "would be dead before morning."

Crum resides next to the restaurant.

Ammon was summoned to the restaurant at 10:10 and arrived at 10:20 after radioing the sheriff's department for assistance. Deputy Kent Garvey assisted in the investigation.

A top wind speed of 183 miles per hour was recorded at Milton, Mass., in the 1938 New England hurricane.

Beaver County's ASC Committee

Glenn Campbell of Clinton R.D. 1 has been named chairman of the Beaver County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee.

Lloyd Brenner of Rochester R.D. 1 is vice chairman and Wayne Boyd of Hookstown R.D. 1 the third member.

Campbell and Brenner were elected to the committee last year and Boyd this year for a three-year term.

Alternates named are Thomas West and Raymond Perkins of Fombell R.D.

The election was held during a county convention at the ASC office. Electors were farmers chosen as convention delegates at recent ASC community committee elections. All county and community committeemen will take office Oct. 1.

Campbell points out that the ASC county and community farmer - committees are in charge of local administration of such national farm programs as the Agricultural Conservation Program, the feed grain program, the voluntary wheat program, acreage allotments and marketing quotas, the national wool program, commodity price-support loans and storage facility loans.

The ASCS county office at the Federal Building, Beaver, is headquarters for the county committee and serves as the farmers' local contact for business connected with participation in the programs administered by the committtees. These programs encourage conservation and increase farm returns by means of price supports and market supply - management as well as by payments.

Rotary Left Challenge For 'Meaningful Year'

A challenge to have "a constructive, meaningful year" was left by Stewart P. Witham, District 665 governor, when he addressed the Rotary Club Tuesday noon at the Travelers Hotel.

Witham, of Canton, pointed out that while Rotary itself has been functioning for years since its founding in Chicago, some recently - organized clubs are in "the year 1" and are struggling through the early stages of life.

Many of these embryonic groups have been established in newly-emerging nations, he explained.

Stressing the far - flung activities of Rotary, Witham cited the case of the new Philippine District 380 governor, Rudy Neece, who often must embark on three-day, 1,700-mile island-hopping trips to visit the 30 clubs in his district.

Witham, who attended a Rotary International training session with Neece at Lake Placid, N.Y., explained that his longest visitation is one of eight hour.

In the Philippines, Witman said, the governor is treated as visiting royalty, being met at each border and escorted to the city with a parade. This pomp, he explained, is an indication of the prestige Rotary enjoys in other countries.

Witham cautioned members against paying only lip service to the Rotary motto "Service Above Self," observing that while the principal is "not discarded, it often is shoved into a corner."

He commended the local club on its sponsorship of the Ralph Johnson Memorial Amphitheater fund drive. The club has raised some $5,000 to date toward the goal of $13,000. It was announced that an additional $159.77 was raised in an audience canvass during dedication ceremonies Sunday.

Dr. Clarence Mayberry gave the invocation and Arthur V. Doak presided.

Firemen At Ohioville In Business Meeting

The Ohioville Fire Department held its regular meeting Monday night at the Borough Building, with James Petrella presiding.

Members of the Junior department under 18 years of age are reminded they must present letters of consent from their parents to join the organization and also must have a working permit. The permits may be obtained from Western Beaver High School.

Pentagon Makes Estimate

Building Supplies Stolen In Viet Put In Millions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon officials estimated today millions of dollars in building supplies sent to Viet Nam have been stolen outright, damaged in hasty unloading operations or ruined by exposure due to lack of storage facilities.

"A few million dollars worth stolen? Hell, yes," declard a top officer connected with the Viet Nam construction program.

"Well, say below $10 million —maybe under $5 million," he added. "We really don't have a fix on it yet."

But a more definite idea of the loss may emerge in November, he said, when civilian contractors complete an inventory now under way at three major depots and 13 warehouses in Viet Nam.

This will be the first accounting of what materials the contractor has used and has in stock — eight months after a gargantuan stream of supplies began pouring into Southeast Asia for U.S. military facilities.

Officials say the delay in getting records up to date could not be avoided because of the crash mobilization undertaken by the private consortium known as RMK-BRJ, now performing nearly $800 million of work in South Viet Nam.

RMK-BRJ stands for Raymond International of New York; Morris-Knudsen of Boise, Idaho; Brown & Root of Houston, Tex., and J.A. Jones Construction Co. of Charlotte, N.C.

Building the priority installations — temporary quarters for troops, air bases for warplanes, ports for receiving supplies — came first. Bookkeeping by necessity was done if and when there was time.

Vast amounts of lumber, steel and cement were ordered late last year and began arriving in Viet Nam in January. But there were virtually no ports to receive the materials and, further, no place to store them.

Barges dumped the goods onto beaches. From there they were hauled or dragged to cleared areas for open storage while warehouses were built.

Land for the major depots couldn't be acquired until about April, this officer said.

Three major depots were completed in July and August at Saigon, Da Nang and Cam Ranh Bay. Now, officials said, the construction combine has three 10-man teams at work compiling records on stocks as they are separated, classified and stored in bins.

The task at the three big depots, however, is only the top of the iceberg. Accounting also must be accomplishd at 13 subdepots and at 76 general warehouses, 21 cement warehouses and over literally thousands of square yards of open storage areas where supplies have piled up.

Target date for completion of the inventory is Nov. 1.

In relation to the more than $300 million in equipment and materials ordered by the contractor, the amount of "out-and-out-stealing probably will be small," he said. There may be considerable amounts of materials which Army and Marine troops took in order to build facilities without waiting for the consortium to do it.

"I'm sure—but I can't document this — that some truck drivers hauling our stuff incountry quite often just drive down an alley and come out with the load cut in half," the officer said. "We can't have a supervisor on every truck.

"And then there are kids who pitch off boxes and crates of supplies even while the truck drives through Saigon," he said. "It's a problem, but what can you do about it?"

Above and beyond the stolen goods are more millions lost because of damage or deterioration, he said. Some goods have been broken up when dumped ashore; lumber has rotted in open storage; literally tons of cement have hardend into 100-pound blocks when drenched in the rain.

Many Sent To Viet Nam

Absentee Ballots Mailed To Countians In Service

Launching the issuance of so-called "soldier ballots" for the Nov. 8 general election, the County Election Board mailed sets of the tickets Tuesday afternoon to 40 men and women in the armed forces.

Many of the envelopes are addressed to men at Army post office numbers in San Francisco, which means they are serving in Viet Nam or some other military outpost in the Pacific, such as Korea or Japan.

THE OTHERS are destined for military posts in Europe, as well as camps and bases throughout the United States.

Miss Rebecca Resnick, director of elections, said the board received applications in behalf of men and women with home addresses in East Liverpool, Salem, Lisbon, Columbiana, Unity, East Palestine, Liverpool Township and many other points in Columbiana County.

Last Friday was the first day designated in state law for issuance of the ballots, but the board held up until yesterday to await the final consignment of the tickets from the printing contractor.

The applications may be filed until noon on Saturday, Nov 5. They may be returned to the board's office as late as noon on Election Day.

Civilians residing temporarily outside the U.S. also are covered by the so-called "soldier voting" law, with the same deadlines applying. Persons in the foreign service sometimes apply for the ballots, as well as the wives of servicemen residing overseas.

SERVICEMEN and women may apply directly for the "soldier ballots." In addition, the law says the ballots will be issued on the sworn application of the spouse, mother, father, father - in - law, mother - in-law, grandfather, grandmother, brother, sister, son, daughter, adopting parent, adopted child, step-parent, step-child, aunt, uncle, nephew or niece.

Meanwhile, Miss Resnick pointed out that civilian absentee and disabled voters' ballots will not become available unti Oct. 9, under Ohio law.

The absentee voters' ballots are available to persons who will be unavoidably absent from Columbiana County and at least 10 miles from their home precinct on Election Day.

The disabled voters' ballots are for persons who are unable to get to the polls because of illness or disability. The application must be accompanied by a certificate from the attending physician giving the fact on the illness or disability.

The deadline for issuance of both types of civilian ballots is Nov. 3 at 4 p.m. To be counted at the polls on Election Day, they must be back in the board's hands by noon on Friday, Nov. 4.

Applications for both types of civilian ballots must be notarized. A commissioned officer may notarize a serviceman's application.

Gursel, Former Turkish Leader, Claimed At 71

ANKARA, Turkey (AP)—Former Turkish President Cemal Gursel, the tough old soldier who had battled for his life on two continents, died today at a military hospital here.

The 71-year-old Gursel never regained consciousness after he had been flown home from Walter Reed Army Hospital in Washington, last March.

He went to the United States for treatment.

Gursel had flown to Washington Feb. 9 on a plane put at his disposal by President Johnson, for treatment of diabetes and partial paralysis, the aftermath of a December 1960 stroke.

He lapsed into a coma six days after his arrival at Walter Reed following another stroke.

When there appeared no hope for full recovery, Gursel was returned to Turkey and last March replaced as president by another army general, Cevdet Sunay.

What Quality Beef Does A&P Sell?

That's a fair question. But not an easy one to answer because we have our own quality standards, different from any other meat merchant.

These standards don't fit exactly the familiar terms you know for grades of meat. As an example, did you know that some beef, graded U.S. Choice, just doesn't meet our "Super-Right" specifications? It's true! You see... we don't buy by grade. We use our own high standards to bring you the best values.

That doesn't mean we don't approve of such grading – not at all. It just means we're very fussy about the beef we label "Super-Right." It stands to reason we have to be or A&P wouldn't be America's number one meat merchant.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Sullivan Forgives And Forgets

The only performer on TV today who can feel secure is Ed Sullivan. Everyone else, including the industry's executives, has one-way options on his options. But Ed Sullivan began his 19th season this week, proving conclusively that it isn't necessary to know how to dance, sing or tell jokes to be a success on TV.

Hal Humphrey

The fact is, if Sullivan had been able to do any of those things, his TV career would have ended years ago.

THE MAJOR DOMO of TV's oldest vaudeville show was in Las Vegas recently, searching for new acts, when he dropped into the Sands for Pat Boone and Joe E. Lewis' show and found himself being introduced from the audience by Boone (there's a switch).

"He had some very nice things to say about me," reports Sullivan, "but what touched me most was his saying that the quality he felt was responsible for my being on TV so long was that I always seemed to have a genuine affection for the performers. That's true, you know. I do."

There are performers who will turn blue from choking on that statement of Sullivan's. One of them is Jackie Mason, who also was playing Las Vegas at the time, and when Sullivan bumped into Jackie, Ed cracked, "You owe me money for all that material!"

SULLIVAN was referring to all the gags Jackie has in his act concerning his run-in with Sullivan two years ago over an allegedly obscene gesture Jackie is supposed to have made.

"I think he's still suing me," says TV's veteran emcee, "but I'd love to have him back on the show. How long can you stay mad, after all?"

This is the same Sullivan who said Jackie never would work on his show again. When reminded of that, his answer is, "Look, when you get a certain age you start worrying about the hereafter. I'm going to have Steve Allen on the show again this year, too."

ALLEN AND Sullivan were avowed enemies not so long ago, when Allen also had a Sunday night variety - type show. One of their big name-calling contests was over who had the first rights to do a show on the late James Dean. Apparently Allen is in a mellower stage now, as well as Sullivan.

Two names still on the Sullivan blacklist are Jack Paar and Arthur Godfrey. Sullivan still enjoys reminiscing about the time he hired singer Julius LaRosa after Godfrey had fired him, and how Godfrey's mother sat in Sullivan's audience that night "screaming and applauding" for Julius.

"Paar, I still don't understand. I felt sorry for him when CBS fired him years ago, and I paid him $5,000 to come on my show. He was so grateful he spent most of the time telling the audience what a great guy I was. He even cried.

"Then not long after that he got the 'Tonight' show on NBC and knocked my brains out," Sullivan recalls, incredulously.

IN A LATER wrangle between Sullivan and Paar over guest performers, Paar challenged Sullivan to a debate on the "Tonight" show, but it never came off (Sullican claimed Paar welched out) and thus TV viewers were gypped out of witnessing a new milestone in the medium's great history.

Jack Benny finally got Paar to apologize to Sullivan, but Sullivan was home asleep and didn't hear it.

Another of Sullivan's feuds was with Frank Sinatra, who took out full-page ads in the trade papers to accuse Sullivan of being "Sick, Sick, Sick!"

"Gosh," says Sullivan today, "I don't even remember what that one was all about."

BESIDES these contributions to our TV culture, Sullivan has been responsible for bringing us everything from Shakespeare to Elvis Presley and Rodgers & Hammerstine to the Beatles. And all of it has remained in the same stringent format with those inimitable Sullivan introductions.

The only concessions he has made are to put all rock 'n' roll acts on in the first half hour, "so parents can tell their kids that's it and get to bed," and to give some of his better artists more than the usual eight minutes for their act.

Courts Collect $5,242 From August Actions

LISBON — The three Columbiana County courts at Lisbon, Salem and East Palestine collected $5,242 in fines and costs during August.

Clerk of Courts Carl L. Stacey reports the County Treasurer received $3,599; the State Treasurer, $1,207 — of which $1,197 represented 45 per cent of fines in state highway patrol cases—and $436 was disbursed as fees to the Sheriff, constables and city police.

Stacey said 256 criminal cases and 91 civil cases were filed in the three courts last month.

Governor Marks 57th Birthday On Vote Drive

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — It was a big day for Northwestern Ohio bakers before Gov. James A Rhodes returned to Columbus Tuesday night with a full stomach, somewhat winded lungs and probably freshly calloused hands.

It was the governor's 57th birthday anniversary Tuesday, second day of the Republican campaign caravan. Van Wert, Paulding, Sidney, Celina and Wapakoneta were the major stops.

And birthday cake was fare almost everywhere.

The governor had a busload of fellow statewide GOP candidates seeking re - election and a Republican Legislature for 1967 took today off from their "report to the People" tour but swing into two more days on the road Thursday.

Rhodes ordered many unscheduled stops on Tuesday's itinerary as the bus traveled through predominantly agricultural country.

The emphasis at speaking stops was on Ohio's education program under bond issue funds initiated by the GOP administration and approved by the voters.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—How can I keep leather-covered books in good condition?

A.—By carefully rubbing the leather with a little pure lanolin oil or castor oil every few years. Use a clean cloth or your fingers, taking care to work in the oil just a little at a time. No excess oil should be left on the surface. On light-colored leathers, use white petroleum jelly or a special leather cream, since other oils tend to darken the leather.

Q.—How can I remove the odor of perspiration from a man's woolen shirt?

Overdieting Can Be Dangerous

Teen - agers, it is a sorry mistake to overdiet. With all the emphasis on streamlines today, it seems that no mirror ever reflects you too thin.

Ida Jean Kain

One mother, at her wit's end because of her young daughter's silly dieting, pleads with this dietitian to urge you girls to listen to reason. She writes:

"Last year in the summer, my teen - age daughter went on a diet. She is a tall girl, 5' 7" and at that time weighed 133 pounds. She had a well-proportioned body and a beautiful face. But she decided she was too fat, and foolishly dieted down to 105 pounds! She is now skinny as a rail and a bag of bones.

"HER WHOLE metabolic process is upset. I have had her in the hospital to make sure she did not harm her health irrevocably. She promised the doctor she would eat more sensibly and does for a short time, but then reverts to her own "way of eating." She thinks she knows all about nutrition and calories. The diet has a hold on her and she has a fear of getting fat. Please write to bring teen-age girls to their senses."

Young women, if you are trying to be thin as a wraith, take off your dark glasses, and really look in the mirror. Do you think that flat - chested, scrawny girl girl looks pretty? With undernutrition and underweight, feminine curves are minus, for the bosom reflects your health and nutritional status.

I can't for the life of me see why any girl would go to such fantastic extremes to be skinny. Is it because of fashion's emphasis? The attenuated models in ultra chic magazines are too thin.

Even the window manikins are not true to life. Peek around in back of those dummy figures and you'll see that a wide tuck has been taken down the back of the dress.

IF YOU want to be a vital, healthy, happy girl with a rosy future, don't shortchange yourself on good nutrition. The skinny girl in today's letter who is worrying her mother may think she knows all about nutrition.

But if she is sticking to a small list of foods instead of building her meals around a variety of the protective foods, she is missing out on many vital nutrients. Calories measure fuel only. Do your meals provide a variety of vegetables and fruits, milk, meat, fish or poultry and whole grains daily?

The good food values in these protective foods work together. Think of this as teamwork among the nutrients. When you slight any food group, you miss out on many essential nutrients.

Girls, what you eat during your developing years can have far-reaching effects all the rest of your life. Do yourself a favor, get with good food habits. Swing into exercise and you can have a honey of a figure.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Wednesday, Sept. 14, the 257th day of 1966. There are 108 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1901, President William McKinley died from wounds he recevied from an assassin's revolver on Sept. 6.

On this date:

In 1940, Congress passed the Selective Service and Training Act.

In 1943, Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced that American and Australia forces had captured the air-naval base of Salamaua, New Guinea.

Five years ago—The Western Big Four foreign ministers met in Washington to discuss the Berlin crisis.

One year ago—Pope Paul VI told the opening of the fourth and final session of the Vatican Ecumenical Council that he plans to establish a synod of Catholic bishops who would consult with him in the governing of the church.

Junior Editors Quiz on HUNGARY

QUESTION: Would you tell us about Hungary?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Hungary, now a small country of central Europe, was once powerful and important. In A.D. 896, a proud people with an independent spirit, the Magyars, settled the broad Danube River plain, where Hungary now lies. The fertile, black earth tempted other nations. Fierce wars were fought, especially with the Tartars in the 1200's. In the 1400's, a powerful king, Matthias Corvinus, unified the country and made it prosperous. But with his death, the Ottoman Turks invaded Hungary and then the Austrians. In 1867, Hungary joined Austria in a monarchial government. But in World War I, Austria-Hungary was defeated along with Germany, which led to the establishment of a dictatorship. This was overthrown, leading to a regency. In 1920, Hungary's neighbors took most of her land, mineral resources and forests. When Hitler rose to power, he promised to return Hungary's lost provinces. But after his defeat, Russian troops invaded the country, and the people still live under a one-party communist government, which allows no opposition. By nature, Hungarians cling to their own customs. They love bright designs, music and dancing and spiced food. Goulash, spiced with paprika, is a national dish.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: YOU have a problem. It is called exaggeration. When "Los Angeles Heartache" complained about her daughter - in - law's dirty house you replied, "If all the women who wrote to me on this subject were lined up they would reach from Anchorage to Amarillo."

The distance from Anchorage to Amarillo is approximately 2,450 miles. If you allowed six feet of space for each complaining woman, more than 2 million women could fit into that space very nicely.

Will you take 20 lashes with your old typewriter ribbon—or do I gargle my garters?—D. D. OF MILES CITY.

Dear D.D.: I just put in a new typewriter ribbon so I'm going to try my darndest to weasel out of the punishment. (If there's anything I hate it's ink on my back.)

I fugure that for every woman who writes about a problem there are about a thousand who have it but don't write. Since you are apparently much better with figures than I am, please let me know if this gets me off the hook — somewhat.

P.S.: If I'm guilty of overstating the case you are equally guilty of understating it. I just learned that the distance between Anchorage and Amarillo is 3,496 miles!!!! So go ahead and gargle your garters, Bub.

Kook Crazy

Dear Ann: I'm a girl, 18, brought up by cultured parents who have high morals and good taste. I have been exposed to extensive travel, fine art, music and literature. My father is one of the city's most prominent civic leaders.

You'd think I'd be interested in young men of similar backgrounds and interests but I'm not. For some strange reason, I'm drawn to crude roughnecks—boys with backgrounds very different from mine.

I'm in college now and have been dating three fellows. I would be ashamed to have my parents meet any one of them. They'd think I had flipped. Maybe I have.

Why am I attracted to the unpolished types — fellows who are poor marriage material? Straighten me out — PLEASE!! — CONCERNED ABOUT THE FUTURE.

Dear Concerned: When a girl is attracted to young men she'd be ashamed to introduce to her parents, it strongly suggests she is rebelling like a pouting child. This is probably a phase that will pass. (Soon, I hope.)

You write like a girl whose thinking is fairly solid — on the conscious level, that is. Keep your wits about you, Toots, and don't go off your rocker and marry one of these birds.

Double Diagnosis

Dear Ann: My husband and I have been married for six years. We have no children. I went to a very fine doctor last week and he told me I'd have to have surgery if I want to have a family.

My husband says I should go to another doctor and not tell him about my first doctor's diagnosis. Would this be ethical? I don't want to make an enemy of the first doctor if the word should get back to him. What is your advice?—MONTEREY.

Dear Monterey: Most physicians have no objectsion if a patient seeks the opinion of another physician. By all means go to one or even two others. This is not unethical behavior. It is prudent.

—:—

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self - addressed envelope.

Nixon Flies Into Ohio To Launch Drive

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon flew to Ohio today to begin his nationwide campaign for Republican congressional candidates.

Planning to speak in 30 states before electon day, Nixon brought the thesis that "the major issue confronting voters in 1966 will be Johnson's prices and Johnson's interest rates."

"And if these things aren't corrected soon, the major issue in 1968 could well be Johnson's recession," Nixon maintained in remarks prepared for a talk at Capital University.

He and Gov. James A. Rhodes were to meet only briefly, if at all, as the Ohio GOP called in its 1960 presidential candidate to drum up support for congressional candidates in some of the same districts visited by President Johnson for the Democrats on Labor Day.

Rhodes' schedule was crowned with appearances wich conflict with Nixon's speeches in Columbus, Athens and Cincinnati today and in Middletown tomorrow.

In the prepared Capital talk, Nixon called 1966 "a year of tremendous opportunity for the Republican party, here in Ohio and throughout the nation.

"We are united," he went on, "and we have an outstanding slate of candidates. There is no better example of this than right here in Ohio."

He accused Johnson of approaching problems by dealing "with the politics of the situation rather than the problem itself...

"You might call him a medicine man," Nixon said of the President. "He spoons out the bad-tasting medicine and tells you that everything is going to be all right. But once he's left town, all you have left is the bad taste in your mouth and the problems are still there."

Nixon's Ohio trip was intended to help one incumbent Congressman, one former congressman and three hopefuls.

They are Rep. Samuel Devine and Chalmers P. Wylie of Columbus, former Rep. Robert Taft of Cincinnati, Clarence E. Miller of Lancaster and Donald E. (Buz) Lukens of Middletown.

East Liverpool, Ohio

Dear friends,

When we are confronted with a death in the family, most of us are quite unprepared for the emergency. Our grief prevents calm, logical thinking.

We advise that you secure a booklet from our funeral home that explains, beforehand, the information you should know to make sensible preparations and decisions.

Respectfully,

Democrats Push Voter Signup In Citywide Project

A door-to-door voter registration drive within the East Liverpool city limits will be launched Monday in the East End Don R. Gosney, Columbiana County Democratic chairman announced.

Arch Smith is general chairman of the registration push held within the city where registration of voters is required. County candidates and party workers will launch the campaign, Gosney said.

Deadline on registering for the Nov. 8 general election is Sept. 28.

Gosney attended a meeting of northeastern Ohio county Democratic chairman Monday night at the Yankee Clipper Inn near Akron at which Morton Knipe, state party chairman, spoke.

Knipe said various polls indicated the margin of lead which Gov. James Rhodes had over Frazier Reams for the gubernatorial contest has been reduced greatly in recent weeks, and is expected to be even by the election.

Plans were completed for a $50 a plate dinner Oct. 8 at Columbus at which New York Sen. Robert Kennedy will be speaker.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—How can I make a good job of cleaning the hard-finish type of furniture upholstery?

A.—After first giving the upholstery a good brushing and vacuuming, mix up pure castile soapsuds in lukewarm water, and scrub the upholstery with a brush, using ONLY the suds. Take one workable area at a time, and remove the suds with a rough cloth dipped in clear water to which a little powdered alum has been added.

Q.—How can I most easily remove talcum powder that has spilled on a rug?

A.—Don't try to sweep it, since that only spreads it. Instead, hold the vacuum cleaner over the powder to draw all the loose particles. Then what's left can be removed by rubbing the spot gently with a damp cloth. Rinse frequently, so the powder that sticks to the cloth will not go back into the rug.

Q.—What is the best way to clean rings?

A.—With a toothbrush and soap and water — unless the ring is badly tarnished, in which case try using bicarbonate of soda. Just dip your damp brush into the bicarb and scrub the ring, then rinse it.

Q.—Is there a good way to clean and polish silverware without using a commercial polish?

A.—Try this: Boil a handful of rhubarb in a quart of water, put the silver into this for five minutes or so, then rinse in clear hot water, and wipe the silver dry.

Q.—How can I clean silver-backed brushes?

A.—Don't put these into water! To clean, rub the articles well in flour until they are clean, then use soft paper to remove all the flour. Polish the backs with silver polish.
